Sakhalin Isle Furnishes New Jap-Soviet Woe

TOKYO, Aug. 12—A new border incident involving Japan and Russia was reported today from Sakhalin Island where Japan and the Soviet Union divide control.

Domei (Japanese news agency) dispatches from Shikika, one of Sakhalin's principal cities, declared Russo - Japanese tempers had flared over the alleged shooting of a member of a Japanese "inspection party" by a Soviet secret police agent.

Japanese police went to the scene of the incident near the frontier which separates Japanese and Soviet halves of the long northern island off the Siberian coast.

Neither name of the wounded man nor reason for the reported shooting was made known. The inspection group, led by a member of parliament, included numerous prominent Japanese.

The incident came while Russian and Japanese troops kept an armistice on the border of Siberia and Manchukuo where serious hostilities were waged from July 29 to August 11.

The foreign office released an abridged text of the third truce conference between Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar of foreign affairs, and Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Russia, indicating Japan made most of the concessions in ending hostilities on the Siberian - Manchukuan frontier.

CHEAP BUTTER NOW FORECAST FOR EDMONTON

Surplus Supplies May Bring Down Price—Look For Outlet

With large surplus supplies of creamery butter piling up in Canadian cold storage warehouses Canadian housewives may get a break in the line of cheap butter this winter, but creamerymen are looking at the situation with alarm.

According to figures issued from the Dairy and Cold Storage branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture stocks of creamery butter held on August 1 last amounted to 50,078,942 pounds. This compares with holdings of 40,02,700 for the corresponding period in 1937, or a surplus over last year of approximately 9,500,000 pounds.

MARKET GLUT

A serious view is taken of the situation by the creamery men as even the stocks of a year ago were considered too heavy, and the additional burden of nearly 10,000,000 pounds is expected to bring about a glutted market and low values.

It is believed that the only outlet for this surplus butter is in Great Britain. Markets over there are not in particularly

MYSTERY CASE IS PROBED BY POLICE FORCE

Question Of Whether Man Shot Or Half-Shot Is Big Worry

"Shots in the dark or who dunnit?" That's the latest mystery which the entire Edmonton police force is trying to clear up. They want to find out whether a man was actually shot at in the Fraser Flats Thursday night, or whether he was just half-shot.

About 11 p.m. the telephone on the desk at police headquarters jangled. Holding down the night duty desk Sergeant Ben Duclos grabbed for it.

"He's been shot. A man has been shot. I mean he has been shot at and hit. You'd better come quick," said a breathless, excited voice over the phone. It took time to get coherent replies to his questions but Sergeant Duclos finally got an address in the Fraser Flats. Then Constable J. H. Cookson roared down to the scene in a police squad car.

Arrived there he found a gentleman, certainly half-shot, with blood streaming from a wound on his

Airlines Are To Be Placed Under Same Control As Railroads

Group To Be Named Soon To Control Passenger, Freight and Mail, Hon. C. D. Howe Says.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12—Canadian airplanes will be brought under jurisdiction of the board of transport commissioner within six weeks, Transport Minister C. D. Howe, back in his office after a trip to the Pacific coast, announced Thursday. Passengers and freight rates on the airlines will be subject to a control of the sort now exercised over railways.

"Undoubtedly it will help in meeting some of the difficulties of the air lines operating into northern Canada," said Mr. Howe.

"There will be a forum to which the plane operators will be able to take their difficulties."

WILL SETTLE DISPUTES

The recent session of parliament passed a measure transforming the board of railway commissioners into a transport board with general authority over the carriage of passengers and freight by railways, steamships and air lines. The provisions affecting air services were to become effective on proclamation. This will come within six weeks, said Mr. Howe.

For some years, and particularly in recent months, complaints have come to the civil aviation branch of the transport department that as to the keen competition among private air carriers for the business of carrying passengers, freight, express

SEAPLANE BASE WATER LEVEL IS DECLARED SAFE

Edmonton's seaplane base at Cooking lake still has sufficient water for safe landing of pontoon-equipped airplanes, according to Capt. James A. Bell, airport manager and City Engineer A. W. Haddow.

Fear was expressed that the lake level was sinking to a dangerous level by Ald. J. T. McCreath, who suggested draining a nearby lake into South Cooking by deepening a dry creek bed.

The lake has cycles and 1937 was believed to be the bottom of the present 15 year cycle, Capt. Bell quoted old timers as saying. He added that all shallow places could be seen quite clearly from the air and there was no danger if pilots were cautious.

Annulment Of Mixed Marriages In Quebec Brings Up Mooted Question

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 12—Question of whether Roman Catholics should be eligible to become judges was raised Thursday by Rev. Leo Silcox of Toronto in an address before the Canadian Institute on Economics and Politics at a meeting here. Rev. Mr. Silcox is secretary of the Social Service council of Canada.

Discussing annulment of mixed marriages in Quebec, Rev. Mr. Silcox said if Roman Catholic judges are to state that the authority of parliament must be subordinated to that of "Roman Catholic theory" then the question will have to be raised whether Roman Catholics should be eligible to sit on the bench and to interpret the laws of Canada.

PROVINCE FREE OF TAX LEVIES ON PROPERTIES

Commission Rules Municipalities Cannot Levy for Buildings

Allowing an appeal by the Alberta Liquor Control Board, the Alberta Assessment Commission has handed down a decision which exempts provincial government buildings from municipal taxation. The decision, written by A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the Assessment Commission, was in the appeal of the Liquor Control Board against the business tax imposed upon its liquor vendor's store at Vermilion by the municipal council at that point. No costs were allowed in the appeal.

In the last several years, various municipal councils throughout the province have gone on record as favoring the taxation of provincial government buildings and more especially, the liquor vendors' stores.

TENSE PEACE ON MANCHUKUO BATTLE FRONT

MOSCOW, Aug. 12—An atmosphere of cautious optimism pervaded Moscow tonight as a truce halted Soviet-Japanese warfare on the frontier between far eastern Siberia and Japanese-supported Manchukuo.

Warfare halted exactly one month after the first outbreak at Changkufeng July 11. Since July 29 fighting had been almost continuous.

TODAY'S ODDEST NEWS

Every man to his choice of a vocation, but there are few that wish for the job of unofficial hangman to the Dominion of Canada.

In Ontario there is a dour Scotsman who would like to have the job of carrying through the death sentences of Alberta's courts.

Recently he applied to former Sheriff John Rae asking for the appointment as official hangman for the Edmonton judicial district. In his application he outlined his terms, and gave an account of the hangings he had performed in Ontario.

He closed his letter with the remark that all his hangings had been performed to the complete satisfaction of everyone concerned.

"Thoughtful of him to get a testimonial from the hanging victim," said ex-Sheriff Rae whimsically.

Bonnyville Man Wife Reports Death In Strange Fix

A Polish resident of the Bonnyville district is having some long-distance trouble with his wife.

He wants to get naturalized, but as his wife is living in Poland, this is an obstacle to the issuance of these papers.

He has arranged on three occasions for her to come to Canada, but at the last minute she has refused to leave the land of her birth.

On a fourth occasion he made the attempt to have her join him on his Bonnyville farm. He got the conclusive reply to his wife's handwriting that "she was dead."

He now wants his wife's name stricken from his naturalization application. The matter will be dealt with by His Honor Judge J. D. Matheson in due course, court officials said, Friday.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 12. —First "spanking" 17-year-old Irene McCutcheon had in her life cost her father $47.97 when he was fined today on an assault charge.

"I believe in correcting my children only by talking to them," said the mother who laid the assault charge against her husband, Earl McCutcheon, Mulmur township farmer.

Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe declared McCutcheon had "little provocation" and used "too much strength" in "spanking" the girl. McCutcheon said the girl had disobeyed him by refusing to go with him to a celebration at nearby Horning's mills.

"My mother was sick and couldn't go to the celebration," Irene sobbed in court. "I said I didn't want to go and leave her alone."

Safeguards Both Dominion and Provinces, Premier Tells Hepburn

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Aug. 12— Premier Mitchell Hepburn said Thursday the Ontario government had withdrawn from further Rowell Commission discussions, and added he had received acknowledgment of the move from Prime Minister King.

Mr. Hepburn said he had notified both Mr. King and the commission of the withdrawal, and had received in reply a "long" communication from the Prime minister. The Ontario premier, making the announcement from his farm home near here on the eve on his birthday, said the move was made because the federal government had enacted two new tax acts at the last session of parliament.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12— Amendments to the gift tax, made effective in the last budget, safeguard the revenues of both the Dominion and the provinces, Prime Minister Mackenzie King has told Premier Hepburn of Ontario. PREMIER SAYS NOT PLANNING CABINET SHIFT

Cabinet changes are among the furthest things from Premier William Aberhart's mind at the present time.

Asked on Friday regarding rumors currently circulating that he was contemplating changes, the Premier replied that "there is no thought of any cabinet changes at the present time." The utmost harmony prevails and there being no reason for any changes, naturally I am not thinking of any at present."

At the same time the Premier was asked if he contemplated making an appointment to the portfolio of attorney general, which he himself has held since the resignation of J. W. Hugill, K.C., a year ago. The Premier replied that he proposed to retain this portfolio at present. In addition to being attorney general he is minister of education and president of the executive council, receiving one salary only, namely, that for president of the executive council.

Alberta's Grain Crop Promises To Be Best of Prairie Provinces

FROST REAL HAZARD FOR LOCAL WHEAT

Total Yield For West May Reach 325,000,000 Bushels

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12—Western Canada can still harvest a wheat crop of 200,000,000 bushels and, if the present excellent conditions in Alberta are maintained, the final yield might easily reach 325,000,000 bushels, the fifth Free Press crop survey said Thursday

The report continues:

"A sharp recession has occurred in Saskatchewan conditions since the last report three weeks ago with rust, hail and grasshoppers taking a heavy toll in crop districts which had previously shown great promise. While conditions in this province are so spotted that it is difficult to accurately appraise the situation, it would appear that Saskatchewan's crop will fall below the 10-year average. Cutting will be general in Saskatchewan in another week.

CUTTING GENERAL

"Crops in Manitoba have been aided by beneficial showers and conditions have been maintained or improved since the last report with correspondents' estimates indicating the second best crop in six years when in the neighborhood of 50,000,000 bushels were harvested.

"While rust has been severe on non-resistant wheats, the large acreage sown to Thatcher and other rust-resistant varieties has boosted the average yields in most districts. Cutting is general in Manitoba.

GOOD PROSPECTS

"Present prospects in Alberta point to the best crop since 1932, when 167,000,000 bushels were harvested. This province appears to have escaped the rust scourge and crops generally have been aided by timely rains. While hail damage has been severe in certain localities, the loss against the total acreage will not be large.

"The crop, however, is later than the other provinces and frost looms as a distinct hazard. The next two weeks, therefore, will be critical as far as Alberta's crop is concerned and tentative estimates mentioned are of course dependent on Alberta getting by the frost danger."

healthy condition as English stocks are also heavy and large supplies of butter are reported to be arriving there from continental countries, which a year ago were not shipping heavily.

The Edmonton creamerymen have been trying to interest operators in other parts of Canada to co-operate in a movement to export to Great Britain a considerable quantity of butter, even at a loss, in order to relieve the Canadian position. Eastern dealers, however, expressed little interest, stating that in their opinion the solution will be found through letting the Canadian market find its own level in comparison with world values.

BRIGHT SIDE

Alberta cream producers are likely to feel the effect of this situation, because butterfat prices are being reduced to a point which will permit the making of butter at a price where it can be exported.

The bright side of the picture is that if arrangements can be made to ship a sufficient quantity of butter overseas, the domestic market will probably recover in time to give some encouragement to winter producers.

Taxation

cision will have an important bearing on future action.

In this particular case, the appeal by the Liquor Control Board was taken from a decision of the Vermillion revision court, which dismissed the appeal of the Board from the business tax assessment on the vendor's store.

Hearing took place at Vermilion on May 26, at which time it was agreed that written argument should be submitted. As a result, W. S. Gray, K.C., solicitor to the attorney general's department submitted argument for the Board and J. W. G. Morrison, K.C., replied for the town.

It was contended by Mr. Morrison that the Alberta Liquor Control Board is a corporate body, enjoying, in fact, corporate entity of its own.

SAME RELATION

He submitted that the relationship of the Board to the provincial government was akin to that of the Canadian National Railways to the Dominion government.

He urged that another similar case was the relationship between the Ontario government and the hydro-electric organization there.

Mr. Morrison also contended that Section 125 of the B.N.A. Act, which states that the revenue from property belonging to Canada or any province, shall be liable for taxation, did not apply to a business carried on by a body corporate, brought into existence under crown statute and that as a result, appellant was subject to the business tax, as the business under question bore no relation to land or property as stated in the B.N.A. Act.

In his argument, Mr. Gray urged that the Liquor Control Board did not have the status of a corporation. It was a body organized as an agent of the crown to administer control of the Alberta Liquor Control Act and in effect, was a government branch, or department and as such, was outside the scope of municipal taxation.

Mr. Gray also urged that the crown was immune from taxation unless the act under which particular taxes were levied, specifically and specifically mentioned that the crown was not exempt.

In a British Columbia appeal court judgment, said Mr. Gray, the court unanimously held that the Liquor Control Board was not a corporate body, either actually or by implication. It was merely the agent of the government carrying out provisions of the government liquor control act.

SIMILAR LINES

In his judgment, Mr. Carpenter states that sections of the Alberta Act must follow lines similar to that of the B.C. measure. The assessment commission, he states, was unable to find any provisions of the Alberta Act warranting any other conclusion, so far as the act was appellant was concerned, than was reached by the B.C. appeal court in the case mentioned.

In other words," writes Mr. Carpenter, "the commission is of the opinion that the Alberta Liquor Control Board is not a body corporate, either actually or by implication, but merely a part of the public service of this province and agent for the government in carrying out provisions of the government Liquor Control Act."

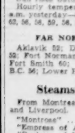

Continuing, Mr. Carpenter states that "As to the second point urged by Mr. Gray, it may be said it is a well-known rule of law that the crown is not bound by a statute unless named in it, and it is not necessary for this commission to elaborate upon that rule.

"Once, therefore, it is held by the commission that the Liquor Control Board is a part of the public service of this province and merely the agent of the government for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the Liquor Control Act it appears that the contention of the town must fail."

William Henry Harrison and John Tyler, who succeeded him as President of the United States, were born in the same county, Charles City County, Virginia.

FLYING PRIEST TO GUIDE SHIP INTO IGLOOLIK

Father Schulte Ready For Another Adventure In Vast Arctic

CHESTERFIELD, N.W.T., Aug. 12—Unwilling to rest long after writing a new story of mercy into the saga of the Arctic's flying priest, Father Paul Schulte made ready today for another chapter of aerial intrepidity.

A fever-stricken missionary from tiny Arctic Bay, 500 miles inside the Arctic circle, was brought to hospital here yesterday by Father Schulte, completing a 2,200-mile flight believed the first ever made to that part of Baffin Island's northern coast.

WILL GUIDE SHIP

As Father Chochard, the ailing priest, responded to treatment in Chesterfield's iron-covered hospital, Father Schulte announced he will fly north again shortly to guide the Roman Catholic church's supply ship there through the ice in Frozen Straits and Foxe Channel to Igloolik.

The sturdy little motorship leaves Churchill, Man., today for the hazardous voyage to northern waters. Frozen Straits lie between Southampton Island and Melville peninsula and Foxe Channel is at the mouth of Hudson Bay.

INSIDE ARCTIC CIRCLE

Igloolik lies 200 miles within the Arctic circle, 800 miles north of Churchill.

Father Schulte's flight to the two-building hamlet of Arctic Bay answered a wirelessed call for help from Father Chochard, suffering severe pain and with a temperature of 105. With his mechanic, Brother Benjamin, the great War flying ace made the flight from Churchill and back.

FRANCE WILL CHECK GERMAN ARMY MEASURES

PARIS, Aug. 12—France today instructed her diplomats abroad to transmit immediately to Paris all information available concerning military preparations now taking place in Germany.

Foreign office officials declared reports of German military measures of unusual size were "Being followed by diplomatic circles with the greatest attention."

An authorized source said information in the foreign office's possession showed "Important manoeuvres will be held on the Reich."

The statement was made in regard to reports of huge German troop movements published in French and British newspapers.

head, who claimed that he had been shot. "The guy what done it was lying there in the spuds, and when I came up the walk he jumped up, pointed a revolver at me and fired four times. One of the bullets hit me. I think I am about to die," hiccoughed the victim—or celebrant, depending on the point of view.

Something didn't seem just right. Nobody else—and there were plenty of neighbors—had heard any shots, although one stated he had heard what sounded like a car backfiring—once, and nobody knew who telephoned for the police.

The victim claimed that he had been wearing his hat. Although there was a wound in his head there was no corresponding hole in the hat. Another mystery. He had also been standing in front of a greenhouse when shot at—but there wasn't a bullet hole in the glass of that structure—although it was right in the line of fire.

Constable Cookson took the man with the wound to the Royal Alexandra hospital where staff doctors examined it. "Bullet wound nothing—it is just a tear like you might get by falling on something," said the doctors. Then the victim got mad at his word being questioned and wouldn't let the doctors sew it up. "Just put some adhesive on it and I'll be alright," he said aggrievedly.

But the potatoes were broken down where the alleged gunman was said to have lain in ambush, and police are still wondering. Meanwhile they are trying to figure out just how shot the man was.

Tomatoes For Fruit Urged By German Board

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—To make up for a great scarcity of fruit, the food ministry has urged German housewives to make extensive use of tomatoes. The tomato, the ministry points out, contains vitamins A, C and D as well as much sulphur and calcium. Retail dealers have been asked to display posters calling attention to these food values.

Flight Delayed

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. — Minor damage to the propeller and an engine cowling of the 19-ton German plane Brandenburg, delayed today the start of the huge ship's homeward flight across the Atlantic ocean.

Metis

which has a charter, a membership of over 11,000 and has through its directors, asked for and obtained the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate the Metis problem."

Mr. Maurice continued that the Royal Commission had tabled its report and the Alberta government was acting upon the recommendations of the commission together with suggestions and requests of the Metis Association.

"On July 25 and 26 a general convention was held at Joussard, where delegates were elected to meet the government representatives, Hon. Dr. Cross and Dr. E. A. Braithwaite," said Mr. Maurice.

AGREEMENT

Mr. Maurice recalled that Dr. Braithwaite had been a member of the Royal Commission and at the Joussard convention, which Mr. Maurice attended "the Metis delegates and Dr. Cross arrived at a very satisfactory agreement."

Objection was taken by Mr. Maurice to the contention of Mr. Hamilton, that the Metis had turned down the agreement.

"Misrepresentation as to terms of this agreement were made at the Hamilton meeting and published in the Monday issue of the Edmonton Journal," said Mr. Maurice.

"The Journal's headline was 'Metis Turn Down Draft Agreement.' I called their attention to the misleading headline and asked the Journal to publish a correction and they refused.

SHOULD CO-OPERATE

"I wish to assure the public that the agreement made by the government and the Metis Association is greatly favored by the Metis Association and its members and that Mr. Hamilton, who is not a member, should co-operate with the established association and support it instead of creating the impression that his few associates represent the whole Metis population of Alberta."

Trio Recaptured

ROCKWOOD, Ont., Aug. 12—Three prisoners who escaped from the Ontario reformatory at Guelph during a rainstorm Wednesday were captured here last night.

CITY RESIDENT IS INJURED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

STETTLER, Aug. 12—Pinned by his car against a barbed wire fence, M. C. Crosby, Edmonton student inspecting field crops in the district was acting upon the recommendations of the commission together with suggestions and requests of the Metis Association.

Crosby's car stuck in some mud as he was inspecting a field in the Byemoor district. He was alone, and tried to push the car, standing on the running board and guiding it. It bounded forward, threw him off, and pinned him against the fence. He was unable to free himself.

He was found by Messrs. Drinnen and Berry, who gave first aid treatment and took him to Stettler hospital. He was attended by Dr. Dixon and is resting comfortably in hospital.

Grouse Shooting Season Opens On Scottish Moors

PERTH, Scotland, Aug. 12.—Over 1,000 Scottish moors, overlaid with peat and often covered with heather, wealthy sportsmen participated today in the most expensive sport in the world.

Dawn brought the opening of a grouse shooting season it was estimated would cost £2,000,000 ($10,800,000).

The King, at present at Balmoral Castle, has rented two extensive areas, the Glencalliater Cairnahel and Micras moors.

Many hunting parties started before daylight so the plump, red-brown birds could be rushed to London by airplanes and fast trains and be served at luncheon.

Kinsmen Gather

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12—Kinsmen from 70 Canadian cities and towns gathered here Thursday for the opening session of the organization's 17th annual convention, nearly 400 delegates representing 3,500 members were welcomed by Mayor John Queen.

No Session

from this it was interpreted that a fall session would be held.

Asked regarding the plan to which Mr. Manning had reference, the premier declared that he presumed the plan was that upon which the government and the Social Credit board are at present working, namely that by which revenue certificates, or tax remission slips will be used.

While neither Mr. Manning, nor Premier Aberhart gave any details of the proposed plan, it was learned from other sources that this plan includes the working out of taxes through road work. Under the plan farmers will work for two days, the proceeds to be applied against taxes, while every third day's work will be paid for.

Several cabinet meetings have been held on this subject lately as well as several joint sessions between the cabinet and Social Credit Board.

EARLY ANNOUNCEMENT

In well-informed government circles it is expected that an early announcement on the subject will be made so that the plan can be put into effect well before freezeup.

Mr. Manning, at Bashaw reviewed legislation passed by the government since it came into power and contended that most of the important acts were disallowed and for this reason the government had not yet been able to fulfill its promises.

J. A. Marshall, M.P. for Camrose also addressed the meeting and he declared that "until the Federal government takes control of credit we cannot look for betterment in the present situation."

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Tourists from the middle west who sailed from Southampton and Cherbourg in the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Britain, last Saturday will be in Chicago first thing this morning, seven days after leaving England or France, as a result of a fast voyage made by the liner and completed at Quebec Thursday morning.

OCEAN FLIGHT OF GERMANS IS MOST UNUSUAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Four German fliers who left Berlin Wednesday night dropped in on New York Thursday afternoon to complete in 25 hours aviation's first westward flight between the two cities.

Over 3,942 miles of land and water their 24-passenger Focke-Wulf transport flew to demonstrate, it was explained, the feasibility of air service between Germany and North America.

But so unheralded and casual was the flight that it had been under way hours before it came to the public's notice.

One of aviation's pioneers, Al Williams, described the feat as "one of the most significant developments in modern flying." He stressed that Alfred Henke, the skipper, and his crew of three had made the trip in a land plane, not a seaplane or flying boat.

EUROPE TO PASS WAR CRISIS SOON ASSERTS ROPER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12—Daniel Roper, United States secretary of commerce, disclosed today a conviction of high-placed English friends that Europe will pass through the crisis of war threats in the next 30 days.

The secretary of commerce, who returned this week from a month's visit in Great Britain, said in an interview:

"The people with whom I talked said that if they could get through the next month without war, there would be no general European war for at least a year and probably for years to come."

The secretary said some Englishmen who formerly interested themselves only in promoting solidarity of England and the United States now are talking in terms of all democracies, regardless of race or language.

Britain Puts Pressure On Mussolini And Franco Over Spanish War

CHAMBERLAIN URGES RESPECT OF AGREEMENT

Italian Premier Advised He's Sending Troops, Arms to Insurgents

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Great Britain has put discreet pressure on Premier Mussolini and General Franco to hasten withdrawal of foreign fighters from Spain's civil war.

With Premier Edouard Daladier under Leftist attack in France for stopping trans-Pyrenees shipments of arms to government Spain, the British government made these two moves:

THE MESSAGES

1. A suggestion to the Italian premier that reports Italy was sending more troops and materiel to insurgent Spain were prejudicial to the Anglo-Italian accord which is to be effective upon a "settlement in Spain."

2. Advice to Franco that his explanation of delay in accepting the British plan for withdrawal of foreign soldiers was "unsatisfactory." Franco had said "the intricate nature" of the plan caused the delay.

These two moves appeared to put Franco in a dilemma. If he accepts the British plan he stands to lose valuable help in a critical phase of the war. If he turns it down there is every possibility the French frontier will be opened to a flow of arms to be used against the insurgents.

On the question of approving the withdrawal plan Franco already has taken a month. The Barcelona government gave its general approval two weeks ago.

Airlines

and mail into the north the rates had been cut so low the companies were losing money.

Figures available indicate the air lines carried in freight and express, approximately 28,000,000 pounds last year, a slight reduction from the year before. Business is falling off in northern Ontario and Quebec, but is on the increase in Mackenzie valley and northern British Columbia.

Mail carried by private lines is approximately 1,400,000 pounds a year and passengers carried in the north were estimated at 60,000.

Questioned about the mail rates, Mr. Howe said he did not think there was any relation between the amount to be paid to the trans-Canada Air Lines for the carriage of mails and the amounts paid to operators of air lines into northern Canada for mail carriage.

"The agreement with the Trans-Canada Air Lines was negotiated with the post office department," he said. "There is no other line prepared to give the service and the basis of the contract is fair and reasonable."

The minister said contracts with private operators for carrying mails into northern Canada were negotiated by the post office department. He understood there was competition among the carriers for the mail contracts and naturally they would go to the lowest bidders.

An emphatic "no" was Mr. Howe's answer to a question as to whether the government was contemplating subsidizing air lines into the north country.

Regular service for passengers on the trans-Canada air route will be started before Christmas, Mr. Howe predicted.

City-Owned Horses Escaping Disease

There has been no infection from encephalomyelitis, horse disease which recently has been sweeping the prairies, among the city's 46 horses, it was learned from Arthur Smith, in charge of the city stables. The city's horses are all fine animals and are well fed, cared for and housed in brick stables, he said.

Newspapers Will Always Be Community Market Place Expert Declares

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12—"Newspapers are still and always will be the 'community market place.' No other advertising medium carries the same weight of confidence that newspapers do."

These are the dictums of Harry L. Gage, advertising expert of New York, who is visiting Vancouver in connection with the convention of the Canadian Weekly Publishers' Association.

Mr. Gage speaks out of an experience that has included such activities as directing the publicity and advertising of one of the world's great departmental stores. He was vice-president of B. H. Altman & Co., New York.

Today he is vice-president in charge of sales for the Mergenthaler Linotype Company.

NECESSARY SERVICE

But there is more to the newspaper than just an advertising medium. Mr. Gage believes that newspapers, as moulders of public opinion, are more essential to the community now than at any time in their history.

"With conditions as they are in the world, the sane personal friendly advice of newspapers is more necessary than ever before.

"There are so many mediums through which biased and conflicting opinions and theories are forced upon people that sane and wholesome judgment of the press remains as a bulwark against such theories."

Hepburn

the last budget. These were designed, according to Mr. King, "to prevent the evasion of liability to income tax by gifts of income-producing assets made by well-to-do persons to their relatives." The effect would be to protect both Dominion and provincial revenues.

NO MENTION

The interchange makes no mention of amendment 32 (b) of the income war tax act, which Mr. Hepburn yesterday declared was unfair to the mining companies. It is understood Hon. J. L. Ilsley, minister of national revenue, is awaiting the return of C. Fraser Elliott, commissioner of income tax, expected back from Europe later today, before replying to the Ontario premier.

Mr. Hepburn takes issue with the Dominion government for having amended the Income War Tax act, in respect of the gift tax, before the Rowell commission on Dominion-provincial relations had rendered its report. This, he declares, constituted an affront to the commission. He also registered protest against "further invasion of provincial fields of taxation" by the Dominion administration.

THREE YEARS OLD

Premier Mackenzie King recalls that the gift tax was three years old, having been passed in 1935. The tax was not a large revenue producer, but to the extent that it prevented the transference from one person to another of income producing assets, in the way of gifts, it would "maintain unimpaired the sources from which the Dominion and those provinces imposing them derive their income taxes."

The Dominion prime minister agreed there may be double taxation involved "in some few cases where gifts are made within a limited period before the death of the donor," but felt that knowledge of the gift tax provisions would act as a deterrent to such acts.

By so discouraging them, the gift tax would not only preserve intact the capital from which both the Dominion and the province derived revenue, Mr. King said, but would also leave unimpaired the estate on which succession duties were levied.

Judges

ince of Quebec and of these almost 35 per cent did not conform with the regulations of the Roman Catholic church," he said.

"This means that approximately 11,000 of these marriages, if we permit the current practice in Quebec to stand, might be annulled whenever one of the contracting parties gets a bit tired of the marriage.

"The marriage legislation of the Roman Catholic church creates tension everywhere. Catholics look upon the legislation as necessary to prevent the decay of sound faith but Protestants look upon the legislation as a subtle means by which, especially in a democracy in which Protestants are in a majority, Catholics can overcome their minority status."

Turning to the question of censorship, Mr. Silcox said Protestants do not deny the need of a certain censorship, but are getting wary of collaboration with Roman Catholics in many of their demands for censorship of movies, books, magazines or radio, because they are afraid Catholics ultimately will be satisfied with nothing which permits any public criticism of Catholicism.

BLASPHEMY LAWS

"We have observed the way in which the law of blasphemy is quickly involved to silence opposition to the church as Quebec, with the most damnable blasphemies on the Jewish faith are tolerated, and sometimes, encouraged," he said. "We have had reason to fear that the padlock law was foisted on Quebec by the connivance of that church and no matter how much we may despise Communism, we consider that law infamous, un-British, rankly intolerant and destined to create the very thing which it professes to crush."

Another difficulty in Protestant-Catholic relations in Canada arises from the tendency of Roman Catholics to obtain huge properties all over the country, he said.

"Visitors to Quebec comment privately on the disparity between the magnificent church buildings in the small towns and the wretched little homes of the people who supply the means whereby these buildings are erected," Mr. Silcox said.

CHURCH DEBT

"The debt on Catholic property alone in the province of Quebec is not less than $300,000,000 and probably as much as $600,000,000."

Mr. Silcox said Protestants also like magnificent church buildings.

"We do like fine churches when we can afford them, although our taste is sometimes unspeakable," he said, "but we are frankly hostile to a church which seems so avid for property and buildings, especially if such property and buildings are exempt from taxation. Perhaps in self-protection we will have to insist in the near future that all church property be taxed to prevent the unwise accumulation of such resources."

Fort Smith Child Gets Excitement From City Bustle

Young Ian Morrow, five-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Morrow, of Fort Smith, who is in Edmonton and "outside" for the first time in three years, is tremendously excited about the Cooking Lake airbase, but finds all the lights on cars and streets rather terrifying. Ian flew out from Smith with his mother and father and brother James, and sister Rosalie, who last year attended Rupertsland school for girls in Winnipeg. The family left Thursday evening for Winnipeg.

JAP AIR RAIDS STRIKE TERROR IN SOUTH CHINA

CANTON, China, Aug. 12—Japanese planes penetrated Kwangsi province in southern China today and heavily bombed Wuchow, river port 120 miles west of Canton.

The raiders, carrying on Tuesday's threat of 10 consecutive days of attacks, concentrated on buildings of Wuchow University and military headquarters after two bombardments of north Canton and the Canton railway.

Kwangsi, a province of 77,220 square miles and rich in minerals and forests, hitherto has been virtually untouched by air attacks. Today's forays were taken to indicate the Japanese mean to broaden such activities in southern China.

Daring Attacks Made At Hankow

HANKOW, China, Aug. 12—Japanese air attacks, called more daring and destructive than any before in this teeming industrial city section, today set afire oil tanks believed belonging to Shell, Standard Oil or Texaco Oil Companies.

The properties are on the outskirts of Hankow, provisional Chinese capital. In the fury of the attacks ownership of the tanks could not be established immediately.

CANADA SURPLUS WHEAT WILL GO TO NAZIS, CLAIM

Dr. Meyer said Germany had an excellent wheat crop this year but following its usual policy the government would import wheat to build up reserves against a possible future crop failure. The German economist is accompanied by a party of 18 agriculture professors and students.

QUINTS BEING WATCHED FOR HEART TROUBLE

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 12—Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe exercised every precaution Thursday to ensure that the Dionne quintuplets did not develop heart conditions as a result of throat infections which have kept the five sisters in bed since Friday. Emilie is the only one of the quintet whose temperature is not down to normal.

A certain amount of poison has accumulated in the blood stream as a natural result of the throat infections and is apt to affect the heart muscles, Keith Munro, business manager of the quints, said in reporting for Dr. Dafoe.

NELSON, B.C., Aug. 12. — Seth Daniel Olaf Ostland, lanky Nelson logger, pleaded not guilty Thursday to a charge of murdering Mrs. Laura Green, and then proceeded to conduct his own defence in preliminary hearing.

HAIL INSURANCE BOARD FACES MANY CLAIMS

CALGARY, Aug. 12.—The Alberta hail insurance board has received approximately 1,500 claims for hail losses since June 1, it was reported at the board offices here last night.

Week-end hail losses brought 300 claims, the majority from districts surrounding Lethbridge, this week.

No report of the total acreage swept by hail could be given until all reports were in from the field men, board officials said. Unofficially it has been estimated 500,000 acres of wheatlands were hail damaged.

TENSION GRIPS SHANGHAI EVE OF ANNIVERSARY

SHANGHAI, Aug. 12—Tension born of terrorism gripped Shanghai today as the metropolis awaited with dread the anniversary tomorrow of the outbreak of Chinese-Japanese fighting in Shanghai.

Anti-Japanese agitators threw two bombs at a Japanese cotton mill in the Italian defence sector of the international settlement and caused the deaths of two Chinese and injuries to 18.

In the settlement's American zone another gang eluded United States marine patrols and bombed a Japanese box factory.

None Too Safe at Best

As a result of actions arising out of the investigation into the mine disaster at Hinton, eleven men pled guilty on Monday to having violated sections of the Alberta Mines Act there. From which an inference may reasonably be drawn that provisions of the Act are not always scrupulously observed in other mines and mining areas as well.

Coal mining is at best a hazardous occupation. The safety clauses written into the Act were not put there by effort of imagination on the part of legislators to avert dangers conceivably possible but not at all probable. They were framed to prevent repetitions of accidents which had already occurred somewhere; or to meet conditions known to be common to coal mines and liable to result in tragedies.

No doubt in coal mining, as in other occupations, men grow used to danger to the point of ignoring it, and so come to neglect regulations made for their protection. The Hinton explosion resulted in the death of five men, while an equal number of others narrowly escaped a similar death. That surely should stand as a warning to all who work in and around coal mines that "safety first" must be the unvaried rule, no matter how "safe" a mine may seem to be.

Maybe They Will Obey

The Governments at Moscow and Tokyo have made a truce. The next step will be to get the army bosses to keep it. That may not be so easy. For while Stalin may have "purged" his Red army into obedience, the official spokesman at Tokyo has kept the world informed that its military leaders run things pretty much as they please on the continent of Asia, leaving the cabinet little to do with war policy beyond squeezing money out of the taxpayers to pay the bills.

So far as available evidence goes, neither Government wanted a war or contemplated a fight for possession of the Chengkufeng hill. Russian troops occupied the area, with or without orders from Moscow; Japanese forces put them out, with or without orders from Tokyo; both sides brought up reinforcements, and the fight was on. The military men may not fancy the idea of the diplomats cutting in to stop their lively and promising little war.

Whoever may be master in Russia, the declared order of things in Japan is that the war leaders tell the cabinet whether, when and where there is to be fighting on the continent. The official spokesman has said this repeatedly, and there is no reason to doubt his word. Maybe the fighting will stay stopped.

Paying at a Profit

At the first of this month the city treasury bought $247,000 of outstanding Edmonton bonds for $192,000 cash, thereby making a profit of $55,000. The bonds were bought at $77.73. When they were issued, somebody no doubt paid par or thereabouts for them. The city gained the difference between the price at which they were originally sold and the price at which they were bought back.

These bonds will now be cancelled. Under the former plan they would have been held until maturity by the sinking fund board, or re-sold if the price went up, the city continuing to pay interest during the whole term. As the board made profits on its buying and selling operations, there is no way of knowing whether the profit made on this block is more or less than the board would have made.

But the new arrangement has the advantage that when the city buys it definitely reduces the amount of its debt by the amount of the bonds acquired. There is no holding to re-sell at a better price, no speculation as to the ultimate outcome, and no drain on the treasury for interest payments to the sinking fund board on bonds held by it.

On that ground the new plan is the better. The time to pay a debt is when the money is in hand. The regret is that the treasury did not have a million or so in cash with which to buy more bonds at the same price.

Greater Risk For A Lower Price

The Board of Grain Supervisors, which took office in June 1917, handled the carryover from the 1916 crop and the entire crops of 1917 and 1918. It was succeeded by the first Wheat Board, which handled the crop of 1919. With war time prices prevailing in world markets, these agencies paid the producers from $2.21 to $2.63 cents a bushel, on the No. 1 Northern, Ft. William basis.

The next Wheat Board was appointed in time to handle the 1935 crop, and did buy 160,740,226 bushels of that crop on the 87½ cent basis. In the two following years the Board bought no wheat, because the market price did not fall below the 90 cent figure. But the Board will buy all wheat offered to it of the 1938 crop, regardless of market quotations. Unless the prices advance it is likely to buy the entire crop.

It was estimated that farmers received on the average about 60 cents a bushel under the 87½ cent pegged price of 1935. It is estimated they will receive 53 cents a bushel under the 80 cent pegged price for 1938 wheat. The spread between what the Board pays and what the farmer gets will be the same as in the former year for the same grade.

But while the farmer will get 7 cents less, the Board may this year have to buy —and sell at a loss—nearly twice as much as it bought in 1935. If the price to the farmer is less, the risk to the taxpayer, including the farmer, is greater.

Old Country Letter

By J. E. NORCROSS

LONDON, Eng.—(By Mail)—This, the last week of the session, sees the performance of a curious rite in the House of Commons, the perambulation of members hour after hour through the lobbies to support or oppose the Supply Votes, which go to division without debate.

J. E. NORCROSS

The Supply Votes are kept alive to the end of the session so that the Opposition can call for any of them that they wish to discuss. This is done on the twenty supply days, which the Government is bound to provide in the time-table, the two Oppositions taking it in turns to choose the subjects.

Then at the end the money must be voted and there is always a large attendance of members anxious to improve their division records. The voting begins at ten o'clock on each of two nights and, owing to the cumbrous system by which members have to leave their seats and re-enter the House through the "aye" and "no" lobbies, each division takes about twenty minutes.

As no discussion is permitted on voting nights and as the result is always a foregone conclusion —for the money must be voted, anyway—complaints are sometimes made that it is all a monstrous waste of time.

The Parliamentary Labor party is in rather a quandary over the votes for the defence services. It has gone on record as not being opposed to rearmament, but, like Caesar's Gaul, it is divided into three parts on the issue.

Some members take the logical position that the party should vote in support of them. Others, a large majority, would adopt a passive attitude and not vote at all. Then there is a small minority of out-and-out pacifists and members who can see no good in any Government proposal, and these will, of course, vote against them.

The party, therefore, has discovered that this tramping through the lobbies is a nonsensical proceeding and has decreed that, so far as it is concerned, there shall be no divisions.

It is a neat way of escaping from its dilemma but the Liberals will have none of it and, as they will call for divisions in the usual way, the long itineraries will continue. Whether the Labor members will absent themselves as a body, or will vote according to their individual preferences remains to be seen.

The Labor party, by the way, tried the abstention ruse last year but a small body of Conservatives, determined to make them declare themselves, gave voice to a little chorus of "No" to force a division. This, in any event, will not be repeated for it has since been discovered that when a member cries "No" he must vote "No."

Sir Stafford Cripps is getting restive again. Owing to the decision at the last annual conference of the Labor party, that thereafter it should submit a policy instead of in the autumn, but that there should be no meeting until May, 1939, the party, if this is carried out, will not have met for 20 months.

Sir Stafford demands a special conference in the interval, and has the backing of certain extremist Socialist and trade union organizations which urge more determined action in regard to the Spanish war.

"It is nearly a year since the Bournemouth conference," writes in a Labor organ. "We cannot afford to let another nine months pass before the most powerful and politically conscious working-class movement in the world speaks its mind."

Sir Stafford may cause the party leaders acute embarrassment but there will be no conference this year if those who think with Sir Walter Citrine have their way about it.

Current Comment

The Old Guard Is Heard From

Hon. Dr. Manion, newly-chosen leader of the National Conservative party—nee Liberal-Conservative—has taken off his coat and tackled his job of leadership with commendable zeal and vigor. Regardless of the "dog days," he is making speeches in different parts of the country which attract attention and compel thought. The platform on which he was picked was colorless enough; so that there is inevitably a great amount of public interest in the line that the official spokesman for the Opposition is going to take.

In his home town of Fort William—where he enjoyed a most encouraging reception—he made a rousing speech that contained a sentence or two which might be conceived as pointing the direction he intends to travel. He assured the gathering that "organization work would soon be under way, with a full time national organizer." Then he went on to say that "the party had to progress. It could not succeed and become the party of reaction. The Liberal party had already assumed that role."

This is a remark that is bound, as we said above, both to attract attention and compel thought. It will be a novel suggestion to many that the Liberal party is "the party of reaction." It may be even more novel to suggest—as Dr. Manion's sequence of sentences seems to do—that his party, the old Conservative party, will be found to the "Left" of the Liberal party. That is hardly where its friends and supporters in the past have been accustomed to look for it.

It would seem as if the new Conservative leader should be a little more specific. Observers will want to know in what respect the orthodox Liberal party has become "reactionary." Anyone who has watched its progress over some three or four decades might easily have come to the opposite conclusion. When we look at such measures as old age pensions, organized relief, housing schemes, projected employment insurance, Farmers' Creditors Act, nationalization of the Central Bank, all that sort of thing, we might surely be forgiven if we thought that Liberalism had gone Socialistic.

Of course, there are people who could make a care against our Canadian Liberals as "reactionaries" on the ground that they have not "progressed"—to use Dr. Manion's word—fast enough. "Jerry" McGeer of Vancouver could demonstrate that they have paid precious little attention to his irredeemable money projects. Major Beveridge would find them lacking in "reform." Premier Aberhart is probably quite disgusted with them because they do not espouse Social Credit. The C.C.F. Convention would like them to nationalize public utilities. All these factions might call the Liberals "reactionaries." But it is a new charge to come from the Conservative camp.

Dr. Manion could clarify his reasoning quite a bit if he would specify in exactly what respects he would like to move to the "left" of the Liberal position. What salients would he occupy from which it would be legitimate for him to dub the Liberals "reactionaries"? No one would deny for a moment that any political party must "progress." That is, it must take note of changed conditions, of new problems and of the needs of the hour. But there are still some things as "principles"; and it has commonly been believed that the Conservative party stood stoutly for some of them.

When the Mackenzie King Government, with its plucky and hard-headed Finance Minister, Mr. Dunning, refuses to be budged by wild-eyed assaults from what President Roosevelt calls "the lunatic fringe," there are a great many sincere Conservatives in the country who would not think of calling them "reactionaries" for their steadfast courage and their sane common sense. If "sound money," for instance, "is reactionary,"

By FRED WILLIAMS

A letter written by Sir John Macdonald on Aug. 12, 1884, to Lord Lansdowne, then governor-general, which has just come under my eye, is interesting in two respects—one, because it gives the lie to the assertion, often made 50 years ago, that if the dominion government had sought to conciliate the halfbreeds on the Saskatchewan the rebellion of 1885 would not have taken place; the other for the memory it recalls of the operations of the land sharks in the west in those early days.

Sir John told the governor that not only had a commission been sent, including two French-Canadians, to Duck Lake to offer terms to the halfbreeds but that actually it was planned to elect Louis Riel to the northwest council as the representative of the Metis. "It would never do to nominate Riel as a councillor. He committed a cold-blooded murder in 1870 which will never be forgotten by the Whites, either in Manitoba or Ontario but if he can induce the people of his district to elect him no one will object."

The sole object of the government was to preserve the peace and protect the Metis from the land sharks into whose hands Riel was playing.

Sir John recalled how when the land question was settled in 1870 the Manitoba French halfbreeds sold their scrip at a great sacrifice and spent the money in a debauch. Some of them had moved west from Manitoba and told the halfbreeds of Saskatchewan what a good time they had had on the proceeds of their scrip, and, bribed by the land sharks, were urging their western friends to sell their scrip. "Well as land," "If that were done," wrote Sir John, "the scrip would be sold for a song to the sharks and spent on whisky, and this is what we desire above all things to avoid."

There was no doubt as to the fortunes made by these land sharks, and it was not all from the half-breeds. When the men of the Northwest Field Force were given a reward in land scrip, the sharks sent their agents all over Canada wherever there were men who had been west, and who were unable to return to farm. They sold their scrip for about 10 cents on the dollar and the Winnipeg speculators put the stuff away in their safes and peddled it out to immigrants later on at many times what they had paid for it. The "breeds" were not the only people who made wealth for the land sharks. In many cases this ill-gotten wealth did not last, but there were others for whom it was the foundation for a great fortune.

Education

Editor, Bulletin: Education involves three basic laws—to proceed from the known to the unknown, to learn to know by knowing, and to learn to do by doing.

Every boy and girl should endeavor to grasp those as the sure basis of rational education, and in doing this would be well advised to develop qualities of mental activity by original thinking, initiative, ambition, imagination and perseverance.

Deafness No Bar

Editor, Bulletin: Before your Inquiring Reporter stirs up trouble for automobile drivers he ought to inquire as to causes of the accidents. I will guarantee none are caused by the hard of hearing driver.

If one stops to think one realizes the hearing is a small factor in driving. With so much noise inside and outside of the car, one depends chiefly on one's eyesight, just as a pedestrian does when crossing the street. We don't depend on our ears, but look each way to see if cars are coming. In all the railroad crossing accidents, the driver of the car or truck had perfect hearing yet never heard the engine whistle. There are car drivers in Edmonton hard of hearing who have driven a car every day for over 20 years and have never had any kind of an accident. I think that test enough for any driver's ability to hold a car license. The hard of hearing has a tough enough time of it trying to earn his living, without anyone trying to make it harder for him by taking away his driver's license.

Reply To Irvine

Editor, Bulletin: Mr. Irvine must feel somewhat relieved since he disposed of the load he had on his mind at the recent C.C.F. convention, most of which consisted of criticizing the Alberta government coupled with an insinuation that the common people have not got their eyes open.

Does any one know what he ever did for the common people while drawing a political salary, or has he yet proposed a remedy to solve our economic problem? If so we would like to know what it is and are inclined to believe he has none. That is why the electors dispensed with his services at the 1935 election.

He says that taxes have increased since this government has been in power. Does he not know that under this financial debt creating system where the debts are gradually piled up each year, taxes grow in proportion? Why not tell the people Alberta has created a debt of about 160 million since 1905, and taxes increased accordingly? Why not tell them that since this government has been in power the increase has been much less than in previous years? Why not compare it with other provinces in Canada and he will find Alberta's taxes have increased less than any one of them. If Mr. Irvine wants to play the game and doesn't know these facts he could easily have got the truth, but I guess it is a game of politics, trying to get back on the pay roll.

He says in reviewing the series of debt that have been dis-allowed or declared ultra vires this was merely so the government could shuffle the blame on to someone else for not being able to fulfil their promises. Anyway he continues, none of the acts that have been thrown out had anything to do with the establishment of Social Credit. It appears he must be either ignorant or trying to fool somebody.

He says the only Acts which made provision for establishing Social Credit were the scrip act and the credit house act and that these have been tried and failed. In the first place scrip had nothing to do with the establishment of Social Credit, and if the credit house act has failed, then tell us, if you please, where has a credit house been established in Alberta?

He says the C.C.F. has always held the solution to this economic problem lies within the power of the Federal government only, and in the direction of taking full control of the financial institutions of Canada.

Well, is not that a part of the legislation Alberta passed to take control of the issuing of credit instead of the banks, which was thrown out? Yet he criticizes the very thing he proposes.

Alberta has done more to protect the common people than any government in Canada, even though no dividends have materialized as yet. The C.C.F. have no solution anyway because they do not recognize that wages can never buy back what they produce. Even if you had nationalization of banks and all the rest added to it, you would still have a surplus of goods with no purchasing power to buy them. Thus you would still have starvation and relief in a land of abundance.

Rain

Editor, Bulletin: It has occurred to me that your readers would be glad to know where all the astronomers, weather prognosticators and almanac makers have disappeared to the last two months and I thought you might throw some light on the matter.

I am sure our farmers and summer visitors would particularly like to locate the man whose forecast for the past month reads in part as follows: "Unsettled, but not much rain." If the prophet who foretold the above could be found, it would be interesting to hear his explanation for the extreme leakiness of the firmament during the past two weeks. He certainly will not be able to offer the excuse that the humidity is local, for if we can believe the press, about one-half the world's surface has been under dripping clouds for many weeks; so much so that we were recently informed that an airman who left New York for the western coast got lost in the fog and landed instead in Ireland, without seeing the sun en route (some fog).

They even say that the Dust-bowl of the west has received so much rain that this year's plague of grasshoppers have arrived with web-feet to keep them from getting stuck in the mud. Our unpaved roads are bogs. Our hay and grain is rotting on the ground, whether made or not. Some vegetation has produced roots waving in the air as if it did not know if it was growing up or down and the human race is becoming mildewed. What has become of all the wise men who in the past have always been so ready to explain unusual phenomena? Are they all drowned?

BRITAIN IS PLEDGED TO END TROUBLE

Malcolm MacDonald Says British Will Settle Palestine Strife

LONDON, Aug. 12. — Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, Thursday pledged Great Britain to settle the Palestine strife on the basis of justice both for the Jews "who are building a national home and the Arabs whose title in the land of their birth is indisputable."

Mr. MacDonald delivered a nation-wide radio address after conferring with Prime Minister Chamberlain on his visit last week to the Holy Land, where he briefly met high officials and made an airplane survey of the troubled zones.

The colonial secretary said his government, "working under the authority of the League of Nations, is bound by the solemn obligation to facilitate establishment of a Jewish national home while safeguarding the rights and position of the Arab inhabitants of the country."

Later he said: "With God's help, peace will be restored in the Holy Land."

UTILITIES CZAR LEFT AN ESTATE OF ONLY $1,000

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—Samuel Insull's will disclosed today he was worth about $1,000 when he died July 16 in Paris.

The man who built a $4,000,000,000 house of power and coal and a fortune estimated at $100,000,000 left the paltry sum that constituted his estate to his widow, Margaret.

The will was filed in probate court. Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, for years counsel for the dethroned utilities czar, said the document definitely scotched rumors that Insull had a hidden fortune.

The will, dated June 14, 1932, named as executor Insull's son, Samuel Jr., now assistant to the chairman of the board of the Commonwealth Edison Company.

then there are a lot of "reactionaries" in Canada; and Dr. Manion will find that the vast majority of the voters who were represented at the convention that elected him leader belong in that category. We are not suggesting in the slightest degree that the good doctor himself is not there too, but we are venturing to suggest that when he permits himself to be photographed to the Left of the Liberals, he had better be a little specific about just what "planks" he is standing on.

Dr. Manion has a great position and a great responsibility. He has been entrusted with the leadership of a fine old party, largely the creation of Sir John Macdonald and Sir George Cartier—two of our greatest Canadians—and the custodian of more than seven decades of such firm principles as perpetual British connection, sound finance, industrial independence, racial and religious toleration, Canadian unity, and all the principles that keep Canada safe and free. Doubtless the new leader believes in every one of them.

But he should not make the major mistake of creating disquiet and apprehension throughout the ranks of the veteran Tories, who are, after all, the back-bone of his party, by talking as if he proposed to win the race with the Liberals toward a diluted and imported Rooseveltism. He ought not to talk as if Bennett had been elected leader. He might with his moving eloquence and ornate imagination capture a few of the fly-by-night visionaries who are always seeking some new thing, but if he labels King and Dunning, Lapointe and Mackenzie, "reactionaries," he might put notions into the heads of constitutional Conservatives who still believe that Conservatism means something—The Montreal Daily Star.

C.C.F. GIVEN PERMIT FOR TORONTO MEET

Party's Aim Test Padlock Law Thwarted as Meeting Sanctioned

TORONTO, Aug. 12—Councillor R. T. Greer, of suburban New Toronto, said last night a closed meeting of the New Toronto council had rescinded a previous decision and granted the New Toronto branch of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation permission to hold a meeting. Greer said a fist fight climaxed the meeting.

Greer said a fellow councillor, J. V. Shelley, strode into the meeting after the resolution was passed and then threw out the window the paper on which the resolution was written.

Greer said he fought with Shelley and shoved a brother of the latter, a member of the police force, out the window. Chief of Police Hedley Padgett, who was called into the chamber, said he stopped the two from attempting to fight.

Shelley denied there had been a fight or he had thrown the resolution out the window.

The C. C. F. Ontario executive had planned the meeting Friday to test the recent New Toronto bylaw making a permit necessary for any public meeting in New Toronto.

New teachers in both the lower grades and the high school have been contracted for positions on the local staff at the commencing of another term of school approaches. With the opening of the 1938-39 year, the change in the school system of division which was partially begun towards the latter part of the last teaching year will be in completion. In the place of the old two-way division, the school this year will comprise of three parts, public school, including grades up to 6, intermediate school, comprising of grades 7, 8 and 9 and high school with grades 10, 11 and 12.

Rain Is Cause Of Rust At Erskine

The long continued rainy spell has caused rust to develop in many wheat fields throughout the district and farmers fear will damage the crop considerably. Sawfly, too, are working in an ever-widening range, while the cool, cloudy weather delays harvest and cutting of grain that is ready and ripe.

RIMBEY

RIMBEY CLUB MAKES PROGRESS

At a recent meeting of the Progressive Agricultural Association formed about six months ago among the farmers of the Bluffton, Iola and other districts lying to the northwest of Rimbey, the following officers were elected: president, J. C. Henrichson; vice-president, F. W. Plank; secretary-treasurer, Carl Taylor; directors, George Donnelly, T. Evans and James Donovan.

The association has been responsible for the importing of 16 registered swine into the district, of introducing methods of improved cattle and horse breeding and has also done much to stimulate interest in production of pure seed, particularly in clover.

Fifty plots of ground for experimental growth purposes have been selected and each of the clubs 25 members has pledged himself to the planting of five acres of registered seed.

An interesting course of lectures with speakers from outside has been arranged for the winter months.

LACOMBE

LACOMBE REPORTS TWO POLIO CASES

Two cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Lacombe district, according to Dr. L. A. McLean, medical health officer of Red Deer, since the dread disease took its early start this year. Both cases were termed as "fairly mild" and the children who developed the malady are progressing very favorably.

Two-year-old Shirley Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis of Morningside, suffered from only a very mild attack and is already almost completely recovered after contracting the disease not long ago. The other case of the feared "polio" came when the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Spink of the Lincoln district, 11 miles north-west of Lacombe, contracted the sickness so prevalent among children. The two-month-old child was rushed to the General hospital in Edmonton when the case was diagnosed as paralysis. Her condition is reported satisfactory.

LACOMBE

HORSES GIVEN CHICK VACCINE

Close to 800 horses have been treated with chick vaccine in the Lacombe district in an effort to prevent the spread of the sleeping sickness disease among horses, which has been sweeping the country for the past few weeks. Every day new deaths among horses is reported although it is impossible to ascertain whether or not these deaths are the direct cause of the encephalomyelitis epidemic. Only a few have been identified as from that cause.

The disease is approaching a serious peak here and every precaution is being taken to prevent its spreading.

ERSKINE

Birds Do Service

Large flocks of rose-breasted grosbeaks have arrived in Erskine. These handy birds that summer far north, belong to the sparrow family but are the aristocratic branch and wear bright clothes. The birds are protected by law and do immense service in destroying weed seeds. Weather prophets are already prophesying an early winter judging by the early migrations of the birds.

Emmett-Jonason Wedding Occasions Much Interest Among Teaching Friends

CHRIST CHURCH was the setting for a ceremony of great interest among teachers in Edmonton on Thursday evening when Rev. W. M. Nainby of Ponoka officiated at the wedding of his sister-in-law, Miss Margaret K. Jonason, and Dr. Frederick James Emmett.

The daughter of Mrs. C. Jonason and the late Mr. Jonason of this city, the bride has taught school here for a number of years, and the best wishes of staff members and pupils alike attend her marriage. Equally popular in teaching circles, the bridegroom has been a member of the city staff for the past several years.

He is also well-known in alumni circles of the University of Alberta, of which he is a graduate.

Dr. Emmett is the son of Mrs. A. Emmett and the late Dr. Emmett of Edmonton.

FLORAL BACKGROUND

Gladioli, delphiniums and sweet peas massed colorfully about the altar, formed a lovely background for the ceremony which took place at half past eight o'clock.

Given away by her brother, Mr. J. C. Jonason of Hanna, the bride was exquisitely gowned in ivory bridal satin, moulded softly to her figure and falling into a regal train. Bodice of the frock was fashioned of lace and there were touches of lace on the long sleeves. Diminutive pearls were used most effectively on the bodice and at the back of the frock. Her long veil of embroidered silk net was worn cap-style, drifting gracefully from a halo of gardenias. Small roses shading from palest pink to a delicate golden color comprised her cascade bouquet.

MATRON OF HONOR

Attending her aunt as matron of honor, Mrs. Donald Manning, a bride of late July, was lovely in a beruffled model of mousselin-de-soie in a becoming shade of rose. Featuring a Bertha cape made entirely of frills, the frock was fashioned with tier upon tier of frills from the hipline to the floor. Mrs. Manning's wide-brimmed leghorn hat was edged in rose, and her gloves and slippers were in matching shade. Her flowers were shaded sweet peas.

Another niece of the bride, Miss Lois Holshaburn of Provost, acted as bridesmaid, choosing for the occasion a turquoise blue frock of point d'esprit over rustling taffeta. A clever little Juliet cap was of petal pink lace with shoulder veil to match, while a sash of pink chiffon velvet encircled her slender figure. Her slippers were pink and her gloves blue, to match her frock. She also carried sweet peas.

CHARMING LITTLE FLOWER GIRL

Diane Giffen, little four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Giffen, as flower girl was charming in a Kate Greenaway frock of white georgette over taffeta. She wore a wreath of rosebuds in her hair and in her arms carried a Colonial bouquet.

Mr. Earl Fetherstonhaugh was best man for Dr. Victor Lloyd, Mr. Donald Manning, Mr. Ernest Wilson and Mr. William B. Holtsbaum of Provost ushered the guests to the flower-marked pews.

Mr. W. G. Stillman presided at the organ while during the signing of the register Mr. Jack Williams sang "All Joy Be Thine."

The wedding reception was held at the Corona hotel with more than 80 guests in attendance.

Receiving with the bridal party, Mrs. Jonason was smart in a bottle-green of black taffeta with a jabot of real lace. With it she chose a black panne velvet hat with a nose-length veil and a corsage of deep red roses.

IN BLACK LACE

Mrs. Emmett, mother of the bridegroom was also in black, the under bodice of her lace frock being fashioned of green metallic. Her wide brimmed hat was in black lace straw and her flowers were a corsage of crimson roses.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered cake imbedded in white tulle, and lighted by tall candle tapers. Mr. G. Gottfred proposed the toast to the bride while the mothers of the bride and bridegroom were toasted by Captain Robert Pearson.

Dr. and Mrs. Emmett left later on a honeymoon trip to the Pacific coast and will be at home again in a fortnight.

For travelling the bride was smart in a tailleur in the new fall shade of blue-Teal, worn with a Strathmore hat to match and in an ivory colored sheer blouse. Her top coat was of nubby wool in soft grey.

SUSH IS FAME! Isabel Paterson of "Turns With A Bookworm," in the Herald Tribune, relates an amusing event which occurred during the recent visit to New York of a newspaper friend—Grace Luckhart, of Vancouver. Attending a literary party one day, the pair were just in front of another guest, obviously a southern girl, whom Miss Paterson describes as "small and cute, with bobbed hair, blue eyes, a faint suggestion of dimples and a smile. . . . Mrs. Marsh was the name. . . . Her face was vaguely familiar, but that was no help."

In the course of conversation, Miss Paterson continues, Mrs. Marsh said something which gave them a lead.

"We said brightly: 'You are from Atlanta, we take it?' She admitted the fact, without stress, and began an amusing story about the southern network of cousins, and the peculiar southern ability to remember them all to the ninth and tenth degree, with real interest and affection. She said this was the time of year when the cousins circulate most freely, and she had only a day in New York because she had to hurry back to meet all the new husbands and offspring who would be introduced during the annual round of visits.

"She had just come from a series of barbecues, lunches, dinners, teas, dances and breakfasts, extending over half a dozen counties, sometimes with a range of 100 miles a day. She told how she had first met her own husband, at a dance, where he overheard her reciting a selected list of relatives, and that he said afterward, he came of a numerous family himself and recognized the fitness of things, and when she married him, she promised he should never want for kin—and he hadn't.

"'Atlanta,' we repeated, intending to pursue some further inquiry. But someone was laughing at the time and jogged our elbow gently and said: 'Don't you know this is Margaret Mitchell?'

"It showed us up sadly, the fact that we had never seen the author of 'Gone With the Wind,' of which the total sales have now reached 1,000,000 if translations and foreign sales are included, and which has been published in eleven languages. And there we were asking her politely if she came from Atlanta! . . . Not that she cared. She preferred not to be recognized, as she had made a flying trip to New York on business only, and we're probably doing her a disfavor by mentioning it at all."

ON A VACATION

Wearied by men, and traffic of the town,
Once more I come, as in the years gone by,
Where hills of canyoned green and tawny brown
Slope to a rainless sky.

Drinking anew the ancient psalm-like peace
Of brooklets lapping under shadowy boughs,
I feel like one condemned, who wins release
Out of the prison house.

Here only, where the groves and streams are lords
And ridge and vale make one harmonious whole,
The tired seeker, worn by pummelling hordes,
Can find his own lost soul.
—Stanton A. Coblentz, in the New York Sun.

Verbal Tilts In British House Prove Women To Be Capable Parliamentarians

"WELL," said the Duchess, "what are you going to do about it?" And a prime minister quaked in his boots. Exponents of the stand that women should take an even greater part in the political life of the country—nay, should even rule the country—ought to feel a swelling of pride at the part the Duchess of Atholl was taking in the British House of Commons as she took the present ebb and flow of political and international affairs.

SPEAKS PLAINLY

The Duchess of Atholl, for it was she who delivered that straight-from-the-shoulder thrust, has long been known in the House for her clear thinking, lucid, unafraid speaking. Her stand was that the recent bombardings of British ships should evoke some definite action by the government.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain did not seem to the Duchess to be taking immediate and necessary steps, and so she asked, "And what are you going to do about it?"

The Duchess is just one of the twelve women in Parliament who sit up and make the other members of parliament take notice.

SURPRISE, SURPRISE!

Dr. Edith Summerskill, blue-eyed and clever socialist, defeated the government when she ran for election in a district held for generations by Conservative members, and captured the seat. Eleanor Rathbone, another, is so to speak, a party all by herself, and her shafts are directed at the government heads.

"Red Ellen" — Ellen Wilkinson—and red of hair and of politics can be a very disconcerting person, and ask the most embarrassing questions of the government. Small of stature but fiery of spirit, she is a formidable midget amazon and delivers her points with precision and directness.

Then, there is, too, Miss Megan Lloyd-George, who like her father, is silver-tongued and a moving speaker. When she speaks, she speaks for all know her subject will be well mastered, well delivered and thought-provoking.

Rev. Andrew Walker conducted the ceremony.

Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

People who have camped in mountains or lived at high altitudes have long observed that it takes longer to cook food in boiling water there than it does at sea level or on lower places. This is because the air pressure is less at higher altitudes and the water boils at a lower temperature. Water boils at 212 degrees Fahrenheit at sea level, but much lower than this on mountains. Pressure cookers increase the air pressure and water will boil in them at temperatures much higher than in open vessels.

Grandmothers' Day Is Arranged By W.I. At Bruce

BRUCE, Aug. 12.—August meeting of the Bruce Women's Institute recently took the form of the annual Grandmothers' Day when a number of grandmothers and one great-grandmother were entertained at a cleverly arranged program followed by a tea party.

Mrs. W. Slambaugh and Mrs. Jack Parfet were hostesses for the affair which was celebrated in a quiet way out of respect to one of the members, Mrs. J. P. Hughes who recently suffered a bereavement.

It was decided at the meeting that the annual W. I. garden display would take place on September 3rd. Prizes will be awarded in the various classes based upon quality and variety of garden produce shown with arrangement and selection taken into consideration. Previous flower and vegetable shows arranged by the Bruce branch were well supported and made very creditable displays. Recent rains have caused gardens to flourish and it is anticipated exhibits this year will surpass any in the past.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. L. Willans and Mrs. J. P. Hughes.

Mrs. J. Logan Sutherland has returned to her home in the city after visiting for a few weeks in Vegreville, the guest of her cousin, Mrs. C. J. Jackson, Cedar Hill Road.

Trousseau Tea Party Honors Extended To Miss Margaret McBain

Tea time honors to a bride-elect of this week-end — Miss Margaret McBain who at a pretty ceremony will become the bride of Mr. J. Cecil Hewson — were extended one afternoon and evening this week, when her mother, Mrs. W. W. McBain entertained in her honor.

Rooms of Mrs. McBain's home in 89 avenue were colorfully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of fragrant summer flowers. Delphiniums in blue, snapdragons in pink and sweet peas in many tints made a pretty setting for the affair.

Receiving the guests, Mrs. McBain was charmingly attired in a gown of navy blue flowered sheer while Miss McBain chose navy blue sheer for taffeta.

Bouquet of pink and white sweet pea blossoms flanked by tall pink tapers comprised the floral centrepiece on the tea table where, during the afternoon, Mrs. William Grant and Mrs. W. W. Prevey presided. In the evening Mrs. W. A. McBain and Mrs. C. V. Meyers poured tea.

Guests were invited into the tea room by Mrs. A. C. Watts and Miss Bunly Johnson, and assisting with the serving of tea in the afternoon were Mrs. J. Sangwin, Miss Esther Prevey, Miss Betty McBain, Miss Beth Watts and Miss Winnifred McBain. During the evening Miss Joan Hill McDonald, Miss Marion Mellmoyle and Miss Betty Compston assisted in pouring tea.

Lovely trousseau things were shown by Miss Pauline McBain, Miss Arthur Bradley, Miss Ruth Shipley and Miss Gertrude Compston.

JUMPER DIRNDL PLAY OUTFIT With Blouse for Cooler Days

2101 SIZES 9-10

By ALICIA HART

Clogged pores and the results of them—the chief one of which is blackheads—are the bane of any truly beauty-minded woman's existence, of course. If you have noticed a few blackheads at the sides of your nose and across your chin, do take immediate steps to eliminate these and prevent formation of others.

First of all, renew your attention to cleansing routines. If your skin isn't too sensitive, wash and massage it with a complexion brush and plenty of soap suds every morning and again before going to bed. Otherwise, scrub with a rough washcloth. Between times, clean your face frequently in the treatment. If it is dry or just normal, wait until the lotion has dried before patting on night cream.

Once or twice a week, use a mask, preferably one designed especially to eliminate blackheads. These stimulate circulation and tend to loosen foreign matter in the pores, making it easier to squeeze out.

And don't forget to eat plenty of fresh vegetables and crisp, green salads and to drink quantities of fruit and vegetable juices. Cut down on rich pastries and other sweets and do take some exercise every single day. Never put a layer of fresh makeup on over stale.

At night, after the soap and water cleansing, cover the blemished areas with a towel which has been wrung out of very hot water. This gentle steaming relaxes the pores and loosens the blackheads. Now cover fingertips with cotton gauze (this is important) and gently press out a few of the little black spots. Do not squeeze too vigorously. And do not try to remove all of the blemishes in one treatment.

After squeezing, put a bit of antiseptic on each irritated spot. Let dry, then pat face with mild skin tonic or plain witch hazel. If skin is quite oily, application of witch hazel can be the final step.

A darling little striped cotton percale Dirndl play dress, buttons cunningly down the back in pinafore styling. Brief matching pantees, and a matching peasant scarf tied about the head, make it a complete outfit. For cooler days, daughter will be thrilled to wear the crisp contrasting white blouse of sheer cotton. Dainty self-ruffling makes a pretty finish for the Peter Pan collar and for the cuffs of the puff-up sleeves. Mummy will find it so simple to sew and will run up several outfits; one in a peasant print and perhaps one in sprigged dimity or a solid colored chambray. Simple to launder, too, as it opens out almost flat. The one-piece pantees have elastic at the waist.

Style No. 2101 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. Size 8 requires 1¾ yards of 39-inch material with ¾ yard of 35-inch contrasting for scarf and jumper; 1 yard of 39-inch material and 1¼ yards of ruffling for blouse; and 1 yard of 35-inch material for pantees.

What Fun to Tell Exciting Fortunes!

You'll Delight Your Friends

Glamorous as the new moon itself—those gypsy card fortunes you tell your friends on lazy summer evenings.

To Jean's excited "What about the men in my life?" you reply—eyeing the Jack of Spades—"There's going to be someone new . . . dark and dashing!"

Face cards always represent people. Jacks stand for young men. Kings are a bit more mature and sophisticated. A Queen is a woman—a best girl friend or, perhaps, a rival. Red face cards are blonds, black ones, brunets.

And the other cards in the deck? Each one has a special meaning. You point to the Three of Diamonds and say, "Guess what? Good news coming!"

Or maybe it's the Ace of Spades (a long journey). Two of Hearts (a proposal). Ten of Diamonds (a legacy).

There's bound to be something intriguing in every fortune. Our 32-page booklet tells how to read cards, tea leaves, horoscopes. Fortunes in the campfire.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of Fun with Fortune Telling to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

RISE UP, you middle-aged women! Smite upon the cymbals and raise your voices in songs of thanksgiving, for here are tidings of great joy for you. No longer need you beat upon your breasts and wail and lament that there is no place for you in the business world; that you can't compete with young girls and that employers will hire none but platinum-blonde flappers with stringbean figures.

A nation-wide survey has just been made of department stores, and it has been found that women do their best work after 30. The statistics showed that when it came to efficiency, pleasing customers and selling goods, ladies with grizzled hair and the middle-age spread left Miss America at the post. This happened even in the shops where the managers preferred youth and good looks in its personnel and tried to push the youngsters ahead.

More than that, the investigators discovered that, instead of age relegating a saleswoman to the shelf with the other outmoded goods, it brought her to the front and made her the one whom customers asked for, and that saleswomen in their fifties sold more than those in their forties, the forties sold more than the thirties, and the thirties more than the twenties.

Probably the first reaction of every one who reads this report will be a gasp of surprise, for youth and beauty have been so exploited of recent years that we have come to accept it as a fact that they are as important in business as in society. But a second sober thought makes us realize what we subconsciously know all along—that it is not looks that we care about in those who serve us, but efficiency—and efficiency only comes with age and experience.

Every wise shopper passes by the pretty little doll, teetering around on spool-heeled sandals, who has to detach herself from her lipstick before she can even see a customer and murmur "we haven't got it," for some middle-aged clerk who put on her complexion before she left home, whose feet don't hurt her who knows her stock and takes a real heart interest in trying to find you what you want.

Of course, there are a few gay Lotharios among business men who pick out their stenographers by their kissability instead of their spelling, but the great majority of employers would rather have a settled woman in her thirties, who knows a job and has got marrying out of her system, to any ravishing 20-year-old bathing beauty who is boy crazy and concentrates whatever mind she has on her dates.

It is fine for a girl to be young and pretty; but it fits her for marriage, not for business. Her thoughts, her interests, her ambitions are all centred on selling herself to some slick-haired boy instead of selling woolen underwear to rheumatic old women. The thing of importance to her is how SHE would look in a French hat, not whether it becomes a customer or makes her look like a figure of fun. And, anyway, she is just working until she can catch a husband. She doesn't mean to stick to it a minute longer than she has to, so there is no use to bother about acquiring efficiency in her job.

DOROTHY DIX.

According To Culbertson

By ELY CULBERTSON

One of the most pleasant pastimes a defender can have is rattling off tricks, one after the other. But woe be unto him if, in his joyous abandon, he loses sight of the true objective, which is to snare the setting trick! East, in today's hand, apparently not only lost sight of his objective, but also forgot he had a partner.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 30 part-score.

	NORTH ♠ A J 7 5 ♥ A Q 8 ♦ 7 4 ♣ Q 9 6 2
WEST ♠ K Q 4 2 ♥ J 10 9 3 ♦ 9 3 2 ♣ 8 5 4		EAST ♠ 10 8 ♥ K 6 2 ♦ K J 10 8 6 ♣ A 7 3
	SOUTH ♠ 9 6 3 ♥ 7 5 4 ♦ A Q 5 ♣ K J 10 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	2 diamonds	2 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

As will be observed, East had to "put out his neck" to overcall the spade bid, but the part-score situation being what it was, he could hardly be blamed for making that much defensive effort.

West opened the diamond nine which East overtook. Declarer conceded the trick, playing low, and won the diamond Jack continuation with the queen. He then knocked out East's club ace. East persisted with diamonds; declarer won and cashed three club tricks while West discarded a spade and a heart, and East let go a low heart. At this point the contract could have been fulfilled easily by a spade lead toward dummy but, of course, declarer could not know that the king and queen were in front of the A-J. Hence he chose what appeared the better chance, namely, the heart finesse. East joyfully gobbled up the queen and cashed two established diamonds. West had no difficulty discarding on one diamond, but the second one made him gnaw his finger nails. Before East cashed his last diamond the situation was:

	NORTH ♠ A J ♥ 8 ♦ None ♣ None
WEST ♠ K Q ♥ J 10 ♦ None ♣ None		EAST ♠ 10 8 ♥ 6 ♦ 6 ♣ None
	SOUTH ♠ 9 6 ♥ 7 5 ♦ None ♣ None

It is easy to see what the lead of the diamond six did to poor West. To let go a spade honor would be fatal. Dummy's heart eight would be discarded and the remaining three tricks would be perfectly good. The same, however, applied to the discard of the heart ten. In that case dummy would let go the spade jack and collect two heart tricks in addition to the spade ace. In short, East's lead squeezed the daylights out of his own partner.

It should have been perfectly obvious to East that there was no point to cashing the last diamond. That trick would bring his total to only five and not defeat the contract. Unless West had both spades and hearts stopped, the defenders were licked. Therefore, rather than give up, East should have cashed only one diamond and then should have shifted to a heart or a spade. Either shift would have defeated the contract.

Six medium-sized firm tomatoes, 2½ pounds leeks, ¼ cup uncooked rice, 1½ teaspoons salt, scant ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 4 tablespoons sour cream, ¼ cup cold water, 2 tablespoons butter.

Wash and boil the rice. Add ½ teaspoon salt, the pepper, and sour cream and mix lightly together. Wash the leeks and discard the tough green part. Slice thinly crosswise. Arrange in one layer in a serving dish. Add cold water, sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt, and dot with butter.

Slice off the top of each tomato and scoop out the seeds and enough of the core to make room for the stuffing. Fill with the rice mixture.

Replace the tops and arrange the tomatoes on the leeks. Cover the dish and bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Then uncover and continue baking for 20 minutes more or until the leeks are tender.

What To Do

By Phyllis Belmont

Most every morning I meet one of the men who is employed in the same office as I am and he insists on paying my carfare. I have repeatedly asked him not to and, of course, prefer to pay my own way. I would very much appreciate your telling me just how I can handle this situation without pointed rudeness.

RUTH ANNE.

Answer—Just because you both happen to work in the same office and take the same car route is no reason why this man should feel obligated to pay your carfare. The rules for work-a-day meetings are entirely different from those that govern social engagements. There are more effective ways than words to make your position clear. You can certainly get on the car first and pay your own fare and refuse to further discuss the matter. If this doesn't work, then take an earlier or later car than he does and avoid meeting him. There would be no objection if this man occasionally would have the correct change for both fares and say, "I'll treat you to a fare this morning." But as a daily practice you are right in objecting.

Fascist Labelling Of Quebec Harmful

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont., Aug. 12—The habit of labelling the Quebec government and all its works "Fascistic" has done much to stir up religious animosity between Ontario and Quebec and to bring about "confusion and national issues," Father G. K. McInerney of Guelph, Ont., said Thursday.

Sunday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Assorted fruit bowl, broiled liver and bacon, wholewheat muffins, grape-apple jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Fresh fruit cup, rolled shoulder of veal, green herb stuffing, brown gravy, stuffed baked potatoes, baked leeks and tomatoes, curled celery, lemon meringue pie, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cold sliced veal, watercress, tomato and corn salad, hot biscuits, gingerbread with chocolate icing, compote of stewed fruits, tea, milk.

WHEAT DRIFTS TO NEW LOW

WINNIPEG, Aug. 12—Winnipeg wheat prices drifted to new seasonal lows near the close of the session today. Absence of any particular support coupled with moderate selling by local and southern houses sent prices to lower levels in drab trading.

The finish found quotations ⅜-⅞ lower with October at 69½, November 69½a, December 68⅝, and May 71⅛-¼ cents.

Argentine futures yesterday made season's lows and the lowest since July, 1935. There is no minimum price in the Argentine since it was abolished in Dec., 1936. Following the low wheat price years of 1931 and 1933 the Argentine government formed a grain control board which paid farmers 5.75 pesos minimum and sold to exporters at the world level, absorbing any loss by a foreign exchange policy which made a profit. This system worked well during 1934 and 1935, but for the year 1936 the minimum was raised to 10 pesos. The minimum for corn was 4.40 and for linseed 11.50 in 1934 and 1935, while in 1936 it was raised to 5 for corn and 14 for linseed. While the minimum prices were abolished on Dec. 3rd, 1936, for wheat and linseed the minimum on corn was abolished on Jan. 29th so that all the 1937 and 1938 grains have been de-controlled.

GLOBE WILL PAY ROYALTY IN SEPTEMBER

Net royalty holders in Globe Royalties will likely receive a September payment as obligations having priority have been paid off. The well, which was completed on June 11th, has been producing around 350 barrels a day.

Directors of the company are awaiting final announcement of the government's policy regarding the allowable to be given the well. Globe has about the best oil-gas ratio in the field which might be upset by acidization which usually results in a greater proportionate increase of gas than of oil.

With a gas flow estimated at 4,000,000 cubic feet daily, Range No. 3 in the Sweetgrass Hills area is drilling at 2,623 feet, Robert Wilkinson, managing director of the company, reports. The well should be finished in the next ten days.

Border Petroleums well in Taber district is drilling at 2,250 feet and a quantity of gas has been encountered.

Green Valley-Banner is making good progress drilling at 6,189 feet.

B.C. ELEVATORS EXPECT SIXTH OF GRAIN CROP

VANCOUVER, Aug. 12—Seven huge grain elevators here with a combined capacity of 17,815,000 bushels waited today for their share of western Canada's 1938 crop.

Unofficial estimates set that share at about one-sixth of the 300,000,000 bushel crop anticipated on the prairies. Grain men predict shipments from Vancouver for 1938-39 will reach 50,000,000 bushels, only a fraction of which will be made up by the carryover from the previous season. At Aug. 1, the grain in store here had dwindled to 172,000 bushels, an all-time low.

The nearly empty granaries stand ready for the westward movement of the 1938 crop to the export markets. Already almost 1,000,000 bushels have been booked here for October, November and December loadings.

Andrew Carnegie had himself aroused each morning by the playing of bagpipes.

Mr. Picobac Quizzes His New Daughter-in-Law

"And how is he treating you?" inquired Mr. Picobac, with a great show of anxiety.

"Great," replied Betty, showing a set of even white teeth and a suspicion of a dimple in each cheek. "He dries the dishes at night and kisses me once a day—just before he goes to work . . . and don't be so inquisitive!"

"Well, well," said Mr. Picobac. "I'm glad you've got him tamed. Pete's quite a boy. But you feed him well, and let him put his feet up at night and smoke Picobac Burley, and he'll be all right. You know Betty, my dear, Picobac's a mild . . . cool . . . sweet smoke. Never, never forget that."

Heavy Rains Slash Working Days In Harvesting

CASH LOSS IS ANTICIPATED IN LABOR CIRCLES

Going Rate For Wages $2 and $2.50—Demand For Help Is Slight

While recent rains may have benefitted crops in the Edmonton area it will cut down the number of working days available to harvest help by about 10 days and will mean a cash loss to individuals of between $30 and $50, it was learned Friday morning.

Rains last night will probably further curtail the earning power of the harvest hand this fall.

Check-up of employment offices on Thursday and Friday morning showed that demands for harvest help were still at a minimum.

Going rate of wages for harvest help is stated to be $2 daily for stookers and $2.50 for binder men. Unemployed groups in cities are endeavoring to obtain $3 daily as the minimum for stookers and a slightly increased rate for binder men.

Labor bureau officials stated Thursday that they did not anticipate any great demand for farm help until late next week owing to recent wet weather.

In south-central Alberta, along the Oyen, Drumheller, Stettler, Three Hills, Red Deer subdivisions, weather has been cool and showery, says the agricultural department of the C.N.R.

Grains are filling nicely and the general situation is better than at any time since 1928. Cutting has commenced and will be general by August 15.

Over the whole of the Edmonton territory good rains have delayed harvesting operations but have been of benefit to late sown fields. Harvesting will be general within the next week and the present outlook is very satisfactory.

From the Peace River territory come reports of cool, cloudy weather with considerable rainfall which will help late grains. Grain is ripening fast and cutting has started in some districts and will be general next week.

A. J. HOOKE IS HERE FOLLOWING SPEAKING TOUR

Alfred J. Hooke, M.L.A., for Red Deer and a member of the Social Credit Board is a city visitor. He is planning to speak at a meeting at Prairie Creek on Saturday evening, this point being in his constituency. He will also confer with members of his Social Credit Constituency Association.

Mr. Hooke has just completed a speaking tour of the Leduc constituency, in which he was accompanied by R. Earl Ansley, member of the legislature for Leduc and Norman Jaques, M.P., for Wetaskiwin. They spoke at Calmar on Tuesday night; Breton on Wednesday afternoon and Genesee on Wednesday night.

Mr. Ansley stated that he would make a further speaking tour of his constituency after the harvest, now in progress and yielding varying results both as to quantity of grain harvested and quality.

Within 15 minutes after the Edmonton Bulletin appeared on the streets Thursday afternoon carrying an appeal from Mrs. Mary Mitchell, of Summerland, B.C., for news of her son Peter Matson of Fort Norman, N.W.T., the Bulletin office received a telephone call from the King Edward hotel that Mr. Matson was a guest there.

During Thursday afternoon Mr. Matson checked out of the hotel to reside with friends in Edmonton while outside.

Mrs. Matson in her letter to The Bulletin seeking the paper's cooperation in finding her son wrote "do a mother a favor and locate my son for me. I can't write him as I do not know where he is staying, but please ask him to write to me and I will be very grateful."

SOCIAL CREDIT CAUCUS WILL BE CONTINUED

Business Unfinished When Adjournment Time Arrives

Unfinished when adjournment was ordered at 7.30 p.m. on Thursday, the caucus of Social Credit members of parliament, which commenced at the legislative buildings here on Thursday, unexpectedly went into a second day and sessions were resumed at 8.30 a.m. on Friday, with the expectation of lasting all day.

John H. Blackmore, leader of the Social Credit forces in parliament stated at Thursday noon that it was expected the agenda would be cleared by the end of the afternoon and the caucus would prorogue.

The members sat until 7.30 p.m. and were then recalled for Friday morning.

Premier William Aberhart sat in on the deliberations on Thursday and is expected to sit again for most of the Friday sessions.

ALSO ATTENDED

Other cabinet ministers in the city also attended.

All members of the Social Credit forces in the federal parliament attended save William Hayhurst, Vegreville, who is on a European trip; John C. Landeryou, Calgary, who is on a trip to the far south; U. H. Mitchell, Medicine Hat; J. Marshall, Camrose and Norman Jaques, Wetaskiwin.

Asked regarding the absence of the last three, Mr. Blackmore pointed out that the caucus originally had been called for August 4 and it was upon postponed to the present date. Messrs. Mitchell, Marshall and Jaques had made other plans and when the meeting was called for Thursday, had contracted engagements which they could not break.

Asked regarding progress of discussions, Premier Aberhart said that most of the day had been taken up in a general discussion of problems of mutual interest to the Dominion and provincial members.

GENERAL DISCUSSION

The whole discussion had been general and no policies, resolutions or program had been drafted.

Mr. Blackmore confirmed the premier's statements, declaring that the discussion might crystallize on Friday in the adoption of some resolutions or policies.

There had been no election of officers for the group and that appointed last year, were still functioning, he stated. In addition to Mr. Blackmore as leader, the group has Mr. Mitchell as whip and E. C. Hansell, M.P. for Macleod as secretary.

Mennonite immigration into this country has not been considered as a question before the Social Credit members of parliament caucus now in progress at the legislative buildings, John H. Blackmore, leader of the parliamentary forces, stated during the Friday noon adjournment.

"Members of the caucus would leave the Mennonite question entirely to the Dominion and provincial governments," he said.

Mr. Blackmore said that the caucus on Friday was continuing discussions so as to obtain a complete accord on all matters between the caucus and the provincial government.

Machine Profits May End In 1942 Technocrat Says

Replacement of man power by machinery is progressing at such a rate that by 1942 production on the North American continent will be so nearly automatic that the operation of productive machinery for profit no longer will be possible, stated A. J. Hanks, member of the Edmonton branch of Technocracy Inc., in an address in the Masonic Temple, Thursday. Mr. Hanks said that Technocracy is appealing to the intelligence of the people and is preparing for the "ultimate and unavoidable downfall of the price system."

The Inquiring Reporter

Do you think the various flower shows held in Edmonton throughout the summer months, have an actual tangible effect on the flower-growing hobby in the city. The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter asked today.

E. J. STOWE, government gardener: I think they have had a great effect on the growers, in that they go in for better quality and better types of blooms. The roses, sweet peas and delphiniums have improved a great deal, and the standard has generally been raised. In our show coming up, there is the heaviest entry we have ever had, especially in the gladiolus, which this year, have never been excelled.

W. J. CARDY, president of the Edmonton Horticulture Society: The shows that have been put on in the past, have encouraged people to grow flowers. The competitive spirit is one of the best stimulants known, and for this reason some of the finest winning types have been developed by the individual. A contest is an education in itself for the exhibitor as well as for the general public.

* * *

GEORGE A. BROWNE, flower-grower: The contests are great! I never thought very much about flowers, until a couple of years ago when I attended my first flower show. I saw there the finest blooms Edmonton could offer, and right then and there I decided that I would become a flower-grower. My roses and glads did fine, until that last the next show, on account of this, I'm still looking forward to next heavy rain, and although I don't think they will take anything in year.

No Inquest For Suicide Victim

No inquest will be held into the death of Kost Slapay, section hand who shot himself after he had failed in a murder try against a fellow worker last week at Menaik, near Ponoka, Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced Friday. The coroner named "suicide" as the cause of death.

Through The Mill

It was "back to the army again" for one while haired sinner who appeared in police court Friday on a charge of operating an auto after having spent too much time with the flowing bowl. When Sergeant John Leslie called his name the convivial one jumped to his feet, clicked his heels smartly, saluted, and said, "Here sir." Everybody chuckled. The case was adjourned a week to give accused a chance to arrange his defence.

"What do you do for a living?" asked Magistrate A. H. Gibson.

"Farm—at least I did farm—now I'm looking for work," replied the roughly dressed man who stood before him, charged with intoxication.

"The minimum is $20 and costs," said the cadi. "Can you pay, or will you need time."

"I'd like until Tuesday, sir."

But the man's home was not in the city, so he was remanded one day for sentence.

It had just been a frayed temper and the young husband stood in the dock with bowed head as Detective McDonald told the court he took his wife by the shoulders, shook her, slapped her face with his open hand and then slammed her down in a chair."

"It was just temper following a domestic quarrel, sir. They both have talked about it and decided that they think a great deal of their child, their home and each other," said Cy Becker, appearing for the husband. The cadi released him on $100 bond to keep the peace. She was waiting for him, just outside.

The young man in the dock, charged with "unlawfully living without employment" was just a little bitter. "This is the first time I have been in the city without money or going to work. How can I can get a job harvesting if given a chance," he said. His companion asked the same question. One came from Vancouver, and was bound Thg other from Quebec, and was dark.

"Six months with hard labor," said the cadi. "But the warrant will be held until 6 p.m. to enable you to leave town. Both smiled a little and looked relieved as they walked from the dock.

There were only looks of disgust for a travelling photographer who pleaded guilty to charges of indecently assaulting two school girls. The cadi remanded him one day for sentence.

There were six charges to be read and Court Reporter James Clements got his hours and days and weeks mixed a little. "You are charged with making your employees work more than 48 hours a day." he told a Chinese restaurant keeper. The cadi and the Chinaman both looked surprised.

"I mean 60 hours per week," said Reporter Clements, somewhat abashed.

Evidence in the charges will be heard next week.

Rt Hon William Lyon Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada and leader of the Dominion Liberal party, will probably be in Edmonton early in October, James A. MacKinnon, Liberal M.P. for West Edmonton, said Friday.

Prime Minister King will leave towards the end of September, according to present plans, for his constituency of Prince Albert, and after spending some time there, will then continue his trip west. He is expected in the city early in October.

Details of the premier's western trip are still being arranged, Mr. MacKinnon said.

SEVERE STORM RAGES IN CITY THROUGH NIGHT

Torrential Downpour Floods Basements, Affects Home Lighting

Torrential rain, accompanied by the most violent electrical storm of the summer season, raged over Edmonton and district from 11:30 o'clock Thursday until approximately 1:30 o'clock Friday morning, flooding basements in many parts of the city, disrupting domestic electrical services and curtailing the sleep of practically every citizen.

The rainfall during the storm period was .28 inches. Following the electrical storm, rain poured down steadily until 3:30 Friday morning.

A corps of workers from the city engineer's department were called into service early Friday morning to cope with the flood conditions in basements, while trouble-shooters from the electric light department were making necessary repairs to domestic light and power lines throughout the city.

Extent of damage from sewer back-flooding into basements could not be ascertained. In addition to the back-flooding from sewers, many residents in basement suites reported that surface water poured through windows causing damage to furniture and drapes and considerable inconvenience.

City power plant and telephone department reported no damage as a result of the severe lightning which in the storm two weeks ago caused interruption in power service.

Weather reports from Northern Alberta points indicated that no hail damage occurred during the storm.

Only electrical disturbance followed hot weather Thursday, the temperature climbing to 80 above at 3 p.m. and giving citizens the hottest weather in a long period. The downpour brought the mercury reading down to 52 above at 5 a.m. Friday.

Forecast for the next 24 hours is for fair and warm weather with possible showers.

Weather reports from Northern Alberta points indicated that no hail damage occurred during the storm.

The Human Eye

By Jackson Bros. Optometrist

It is little enough tribute to pay to nature's untold efforts that man should exert all his skill and ingenuity in preserving and extending the usefulnes of the human eye she went to such pains to develop. God eyes should be given good care. Eyes that falter under the strain of modern living should be carefully watched, examined at regular intervals. When necessary as with nearly seven out of ten of us, their defects should be corrected by use of helping lenses of eyeglasses. Just as we use more than one lens in a microscope or telescope, so we should assist the lens of the eye itself. And these glasses should be the best obtainable.

Remember, Man is what he is today very largely because of the marvel of vision. Greater health, greater progress, greater success, greater happiness are in store for us if we will just take the necessary steps so that we shall continue to see like human beings.

Visit our eyesight clinic which is open to you every day except Sunday and holidays, and have our registered Optometrist, who holds his diploma by university examination, examine your eyes.

To reliable people we extend our easy payment plan, enabling them to wear their glasses while paying for them.

Raising A Family

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Parents are pretty fine people. Regardless of their failings, they are the best friends their children will have—ever.

But there is a tendency in many homes to adopt a certain attitude toward the children and stick to this policy to the bitter end, without laying it on the table to see where it needs mending.

O. R. Barton

For example, there are the parents who insist on living their lives, as they call it, keeping the children entirely out of their world. Mother is kind and loving, but after she has seen that the children are well fed, clean and healthy, she considers her duty well done. Her own personality she saves for her contemporaries. The little folk might as well be prize pets, to be put off or on as convenient.

Daddy, on his side, thinks that working all day for subsistence and luxuries, release him from further bother. He is a social creature and thinks that evening lost when he cannot be out with the boys or dancing somewhere with his wife, or a day incomplete without golf or baseball. He, too, makes it clearly understood that although he loves his children and is proud of them, they have no further claim on his time or thought.

FORGET ALL BUT CHILDREN

On the other hand, and perhaps this is commoner still, some elevate the children above everything in the house and above each other. The entire machinery of such a home is calculated to fix the idea in each child's head that he comes first, last and all the time.

This mother and father both seem to take a grim pride in neglecting all social life, self-improvement and stimulating contacts because they feel just a bit more benevolent to their children through self-denial.

Children so indulged are as surely set apart from parents as the ones denied a partnership. Wisdom calls for a blend of fellowship, service and personalities, with room left for self, of course.

The child's attitude to his parents in the future will depend upon his present status as a member of the union.

GERMANY SAID GETTING SET SUDDEN WAR

Farmers Ordered To Place Horses At Reich Disposal August 20

LONDON, Aug. 12—Havas News Agency Thursday night said intensive military preparations "reliably reported to be in progress in Germany" were the centre of diplomatic speculation.

Well informed quarters, said Havas, believed the resume of these military preparations published Thursday by the Manchester Guardian (Liberal), approximates information now in the hands of the government.

MUSTER HORSES

The Manchester Guardian's diplomatic correspondent reported military train movements along the Nuremberg-Ulm line, provisional extension of conscript service and the fact all farmers have been ordered to place their horses at the disposal of Reich military authorities by August 20.

"There appears to be no trace of enthusiasm for any kind of conflict," the article said of the German people. "Discontent with the regime is growing steadily and it is being intensified by concern over the international situation."

THREE PLANS

Whatever the extent of Berlin's military preparations, they were interpreted differently by three schools of thought:

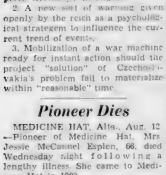

1. Simply as preparations for extensive manoeuvres designed to impress Germany's neighbors.

2. A new sort of warning given openly by the reich as a psychological strategem to influence the current trend of events.

3. Mobilization of a war machine ready for instant action should the project "solution" of Czechoslovakia's problem fail to materialize within "reasonable" time.

HAYWIRE HOUSE By Edwin Rutt

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KINKAID PARKER, hero; handsome, jobless, he has just inherited half-interest in a vacant Connecticut house.

SALLY PENNINGTON, heroine; blond, pretty, she has inherited the other half of the house. Together they turn it into a "Restatorium."

Yesterday: Spencer Ames tells Wilton that a hotel firm is interested in buying the Preston place. Wilton had better watch it closely.

CHAPTER VI

WILTON AMES stared at his father.

"Farnsworth Hotels?" he exclaimed. "They're a big outfit, aren't they?"

Spencer inclined his head. "Very big, very solvent and, I am told, very nice people to do business with."

"I'm beginning to understand," said Wilton. "You'll—you'll take the place over?"

"Precisely," said Spencer. "If the interest and amortization payments are not met, the Preston property will have to be put up at public auction. And I'll find a way to buy it in quietly."

Wilton's eyes lighted. "That's a great idea, Dad. We . . ." He stopped suddenly. "But what about Sally?"

"Sally? Oh, you mean the Pennington girl? Well, what about her? She'll get a price for it, won't she?"

"Yes," said Wilton shrewdly. "But not as much as if she paid the interest and sold to Farnsworth Hotels herself."

"Quite so," said Mr. Ames. "I'm glad you perceive that, Wilton. It shows you've grasped the situation. Now don't you be a fool, my boy. If we play our hand right, Miss Pennington need know nothing about it. We'll make a handsome profit on the deal and you can marry the girl, if she'll have you. I don't know as I'd object to that, either. She seems a nice enough young person and you've got to settle down sometime."

Wilton was silent, considering. The proposition certainly appealed to his native craftiness.

"Yes," he said, at last. "I see what you mean. There's one thing that worries me, though. If Sally ever found out that I . . ."

"She won't," interrupted his father. "Unless you're fool enough to tell her. The thing for you to do is keep your ears open and your mouth shut. I'll handle the transaction. Now you'd better go over there this evening and learn what you can. I don't like this Parker chap getting into it. He might be dangerous."

"Yes," said Wilton, and he meant it two ways.

By the middle of the afternoon Kinks Parker was through with his advertising campaign. The sign, a white affair blazoning with red letters, had been finished.

The copy read:

½ Mile to
THE PENNINGTON-PARKER RESTATORIUM
Unequalled Cuisine
Comfortable Rooms
Reasonable Rates
A Place for Rest and Relaxation
And at the top of the board a

THE HARKNESSES

little, red arrow would point the way to the home of the late Mrs Martha Preston when the sign was finally set up.

Kinks was very proud of it. He thought that it ought to arouse the curiosity of the reader. So enthusiastic did he become that he persuaded the gentleman who had painted it to drive him to the point where the dirt road forked from the state highway and led to the Preston place.

Without difficulty they found the man who owned the land just off the junction of the roads. He was a farmer and, though convinced that a raving maniac confronted him, he finally gave Kinks permission to place the sign on his property. After it had been set up and duly admired, Kinks refused the sign-painter's offer of a lift to the Preston home, took the suitcase he had brought from New York and walked the half-mile along the river.

He arrived to find a great peace brooding over the abode of his late Aunt Martha. Birds chirped in the trees. The sun was warm on the greening lawn. In one back the river lapped peacefully by. And in a steamer-chair near the front steps reclined Mr. Harkness, wearing the air of a man whose work has been well done.

"Hello," said Kinks pleasantly. "Taking it easy?"

Mr. Harkness nodded. "Just relaxing. But I have not been idle today, young man. Go up and try that front doorbell."

Kinks mounted the steps and pressed the bell gingerly. The next instant he jumped back and almost dropped his suitcase. An uproar reminiscent of a police siren in full cry had sounded through the house.

"Good night!" Kinks called to Mr Harkness. "What is it?"

The electrical genius waved negligently from the steamer-chair.

"Nothing to marvel at, young man," he replied. "Just an improvement upon ancient methods. The world must progress."

A small, but extremely alluring portion of it was. Sally Pennington came flying through the hallway inside and jerked the door open. Her hands were covered with flour and there was a tiny dab of it on the end of her charmingly up-tilted nose.

"Oh, it's you," she said. "Did you really have to ring that thing?"

"Hello," Kinks said. "What are you doing? Playing you're the Great White Duchess?"

"I'm making a cake if you must know," said Sally. "I've been working while you were off gallivanting."

"Mr. Harkness tells me he has one," Kinks said, stepping inside.

She shot him a pained look. "I'll say he has. Did you ever hear such a terrible racket as that bell makes now? And . . . oh, well, come into the kitchen and see for yourself."

On the kitchen table a queer kind of thingumbob was sitting away inside a china bowl. Mrs. Clipstack stood with arms folded, regarding it sourly.

"What the devil is it?" asked Kinks, approaching with caution, as one sneaks up on an unexploded shell.

Sally shrugged. "Another of his gadgets. He calls it an electric egg-beater. And he insists that we use it."

At this point Mrs Clipstack gave tongue.

"New-fangled contraption," muttered Mrs. Clipstack, with dark bitterness.

"All this leads me to suppose," said Kinks, "that Mr. Harkness has been puttering."

Sally nodded. "The entire morning and half the afternoon. And the worst of it is, he's not through batteries in those stuffed animal yet. He swears he's going to put heads so they'll light up at night."

"But that's a swell idea," said Kinks. "We ought to get some good out of the fauna around here."

"Oh, you think it's swell, do you? Well, Mr. Parker, it falls to your unhappy lot to prevent Mr. Harkness from executing just as many of his swell ideas as possible. If you don't, he'll have us all wired for sound inside of a week."

"Now, now," said Kinks soothingly. "You just calm down and bake your cake. And after dinner tonight, we'll climb in your car and dig up some place to dance."

For the fraction of a second a wistful look came into Sally's blue eyes. Then it vanished and she shook her head.

"We can't," she said.

"Can't? Why not? We're free, white and 21."

"Because," said Sally, "Wilton Ames rang me up this afternoon."

"Wilton Ames? You mean that stuffed shirt you thought you were going to marry before I came along? Well, what if he did? You gave him the air, I hope."

"I did no such thing."

"You didn't. Hey, listen, beautiful, I thought I told you that from now on this bottle Wilton was finished."

"No matter what you told me," said Sally patiently, "Wilton is coming in fact, he's coming for dinner."

"Dinner? You've got the nerve," Sarah Pennington, to stand here and tell me that you're going to shower our good food all over a nitwit with no chin?"

"Oh, Kinks," said Sally, "do keep quiet. I thought it best to ask Wilton over here tonight. He said that he has something very important to tell me."

SUDETENS ARE REPORTED SET TO NEGOTIATE

Czech Government Further Defines Autonomy Demands

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 12—The government's stand on autonomy demands of its Sudeten German minority was further defined Thursday at a round table conference attended by cabinet members, parliamentarians and the sudeten delegation.

Although an announcement was lacking on what progress was made, it was known in government circles the Sudetens showed a willingness to help find a basis for definite negotiations.

The full round table conference Thursday, presided over by Premier Milan Hodza, was the first held since June 26.

Meanwhile, Czechoslovak officials reported two German military planes crossed the border into Czechoslovakia yesterday.

A sky-writing plane appeared near Krnov and painted a Nazi swastika. Police took photographs of the symbol in the sky as the plane disappeared back over the frontier.

A second German plane landed at Liberec airport, about 12 miles within Czechoslovakia. Czechoslovak officials accepted the explanation of the pilot that he was a student and had lost his bearings. He was conducted to the frontier and headed his plane back home.

Bavarians Worry Over War Threat

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 12—The Bavarian population was much upset today over military preparations along the border between Germany and Czechoslovakia. Despite official assurances that nothing more than the usual autumn manoeuvres was planned, the public was worried. Automobiles, trucks, furniture vans and even municipal busses have been requisitioned by the army.

Mellon Seeks Sheep

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Aug. 12—Richard King Mellon, Pittsburgh banker and nephew of the late Andrew Mellon, was here Thursday en route to the southwest corner of Yukon territory to obtain a group of White Dall sheep for the new North American Hall of the Museum of Natural History at New York City.

Russia Faces East, Japan Faces West In New Crisis

Here are human cogs in two vast military machines which may be loosed, the one against the other, in a new war brewing in the Far East . . . . Soviet Russia's armies are illustrated above by thousands of steel-helmeted infantrymen standing shoulder to shoulder in Moscow's historic Red Square. Below, a comparable massing of Nipponese soldiers in Tokio recently shows that by no means have all of Japan's crack troops been sent to the battlefields in China.

Sparingly!

Showing the way to his people, Japan's War Minister Seishiro Itagaki eats a frugal meal as, with other army officials, he attended a ball-of-rice luncheon in Tokyo in observance of the first anniversary of the war in China. All Japan has been forced to tighten its belt and conserve food supplies for the army's use.

Gets Something

Paul Chotteau rests in the arms of his fiancee, Elta Nosa, in an ambulance upon being taken from the briny after breaking all long distance open water swimming marks by paddling 51 miles in 43 hours and 4 minutes. Chotteau zig-zagged an estimated 75 miles, sometimes carrying him to a point four miles off Malibu Beach, Calif., 12 miles north of his goal in an attempted 36-mile grind from Santa Barbara Island to the mainland at Venice. The 40-year-old Parisian swimmer continued until completely exhausted, despite cramps in both legs, arm and a school of sharks.

Meeting the New Football Stars—They Are Impressive Trio—Vitt Pulls Hair As Pitchers Fold Up

By JACK DEAKIN

GORDON GELHAYE, a mere mite of tackle, tips the beam with a sudden thud at 285 pounds, and I'm not fooling. He's built along more substantial lines than the more modern streamlined, dimpled youth of today, and the amazing fact is he has greased-lightning in his football cleats. There's Lyle Howell, far in arrears in pounds as far as his tackle mate is concerned, barely tipling the beam at 210. Howell is more streamlined than his tackle. Also he's more handsome, a rugged individual without the dimples. Now the mite is Eddie O'Brien. Eddie is an end—decidedly on the lesser end in the weight division, for he is only 170 pounds.

At first glance those were my thoughts as the booster club executive and the players sat around the Shasta Cafe festive board, welcoming the starrry new players to Edmonton. Gelhaye, Howell and O'Brien arrived in Edmonton late Thursday evening, climbing wearily out of their bus to be hustled down to the beanery for coffee and buns—or were those luscious T-bone steaks the boys downed with the ease which comes only natural to veteran steak-eaters.

Coach Bob Fritz was on hand, too. Bob and president "Nick" MacPhee, along with the remaining booster executive, looked over their latest transfusion of football strength. Impressed were all with the newcomers, who, like the other imports, made themselves right at home among the Edmonton sport fans. All three looked in tip-top form and showed real conditioning the way they tucked away the steaks as if each one was just an ordinary pork chop. It was a short snappy gathering, cut short as Coach Fritz called time and the boys [illegible] an early curfew. All will be in action at the practice grounds at the stadium tonight.

Vitt Is Vexed As Pitchers Fold Up

THE remaining strand of rapidly whitening hair on Oscar Vitt's once lustre cropped cranium left the Vitt person yesterday, or should have following the Cleveland Tribe's double loss to the bashful St. Louis Browns. Annahoo, the Tribe's once sterling pitching staff has folded completely, much like an accordion. At least New York Yanks are jubilant as the Tribe [illegible] couldn't have chosen a better spot to collapse like so much wildcat oil stock and just about toss their way out of the pennant picture.

First it was Bobby Feller who started getting booted around. Next Johnny Allen's sore arm couldn't take it any longer. Now Mel Harder's comeback went back into the mothballs. Finally, Oscar Vitt chose young Al Milnar and Old Willis Hudlin for pitching duties Against the staggering St. Louis Browns, the young and old elbower, Vitt's positive last resort, had the same thing happen to them.

Last shots from the baseball front: It was Lou Gehrig day at Yankee Stadium, and besides the cheers from fans, likewise Lou jostled away from the park with a new automobile. A timely gift for a fellow who makes in the vicinity of $40,000 to $50,000 a year. When Mickey Cochrane feels like returning to baseball there will be bids from both leagues. In the American division the Red Sox are expected to finger a lot of what it takes.

All of your hockey favorites of the major league will be out at Renfrew Park Saturday afternoon, but instead of being in their hockey roles, the stars will battle on the baseball diamond, playing the Senior League all-stars in a benefit baseball game.

Hockey players from nearly every team in the National Hockey League will be in baseball uniform. Roger Jenkins will have charge of the puckstcrs while doing the hurling will be that popular star of Boston Bruins, none other than Leroy Goldsworthy who pitched with Winnipeg Maroons in the Northern League some three years ago. Phats Rimstad, Johnny Chad, Louis Trudel, Eddie Shore and Earl Robertson will be the other hockeyists with Bud Foley, Cliff Kilburn and Ralph Morgan of local hockey also on the lineup.

Clarence Campbell, the major hockey league official, will also be pressed into service. Clarence will be the official behind the plate.

The Senior all-stars will be composed of a strong team picked by Red McIntyre from the senior league.

Proceeds of the game will go to the Catholic Youths Association.

P. S.—Nearly forgot, John 'Lefty' Ducey will play for the puckstcrs, at first base, too, so bleacher fans can come well outfitted with very, very ripe fruit.

Calgary Ace Cops Medal Opening Trapshoot Event

MUIRHEAD, of Calgary, captured opening honors in the provincial trapshooting tournament, which opened at the Edmonton Gun Club grounds early Thursday. The Calgary ace won the sliding handicap event, breaking 70 out of a possible 75 and in doing so took possession of the diamond medal for the ensuing year.

W. J. Muirhead put together marks of 24, 22 and 24 from 20, 21 and 22 yards, respectively, nosing out Edmonton's starry pair of W. L. Freeman and L. J. Patry who finished with 69 each.

J. Girgulis, of Saskatoon, breaking 73, and C. C. Plummer, of Flin Flon, Man., had 72, both shooting from the same marks as Muirhead, but being non-residents they were ineligible as trophy winners. This sharp-shooting pair was actually leaders in the event won by Muirhead. Other high scorers in the sliding handicap event were: J. K. Mahoney of Saskatoon with 69, while H. F. Blow of Calgary, winner of this event in 1936 and 1937, slipped somewhat and posted a 65. This was the only completed competition of the opening day.

WARM UP EVENT

In a fifty bird registered event, serving as a warm-up for serious contests tomorrow, D. M. Blow of Calgary led the field with 49, as Col. P. E. Bowen, A. C. Anderson and Muirhead close up with 48's, as had W. C. Davis and C. C. Plummer. A special sweep, shooting at 25 pairs of doubles resulted in a tie between D. M. Blow and Plummer who pulverized 47 while H. F. Blow and Muirhead took third money with 42's. Muirhead captured the Miss and Out, A. C. Anderson being second and J. A. Bowen third. Due to a shortage of entries in the "B" Class Handicap event, it was held open until Saturday to give more contestants an opportunity to attend, and shooters in this class are urged to turn out and try for the generous prize money in this event.

Lieut.-Gov. J. C. Bowen, in a few remarks, welcomed the visiting marksmen, and fired a few rounds to declare the tournament open, his effort setting a good example for the following gunners. Shooting conditions were very good and the Edmonton Gun Club is doing everything possible to promote the pleasure and enjoyment of the visitors.

Tomorrow's events will be composed of the first half of the provincial singles championship, 100 birds at 16 yards, for the "Topsy Turvey" Cup, at present held by W. J. Muirhead; the provincial doubles championship, 25 pairs, for the Robinson Cup, also held by Muirhead, and the Lieut.-Governor's match, a four-man team event being held for the first time this season, for which Hon. J. C. Bowen has donated a gold medal to go to the high individual score and a silver medal to the high gunner on the winning team. A Miss and Out event will also be held.

The general public are invited to attend and witness these matches, which are keenly contested. The traps are located on the river flats, with the entrance driveway just across the road from the Dawson coal mine.

Woman Sniper Paces Field in Dominion Shoot

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 12.—Amazing veterans with her exhibition of marksmanship under difficult firing conditions, Mr. Gwen Spencer-Hethey of Victoria led 150 snipers Thursday into the final round of the governor General's medal competion of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association anual meet.

Believed to be the first woman ever to win in the governor-general's qualifying stage, the Victoria markswoman posted a record-equalling score of 105. This was the second time a possible has been made on the reduced bull's eye, the ring having been reduced from six to five inches.

One of Canada's best-known woman shots, Mrs. Hethey crashed the the maximum number of bull's eyes at 200, 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each range, to equal the score reached four times here.

Aircraftsman T. W. Gregory of Ottawa was alone in second place in Thursday's governor general's qualifying shoot with a total of 103. He posted a possible at the 200 range, but his aim wavered at the two longer ranges. He scored two 34's points, one short of possible, at each of the longer ranges.

Hogan Second

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 12. — Ray Grieve of Toronto, 17-year-old holder of the Ontario junior golf title, won the Dominion intermediate championship and the C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville trophy with a 36-hole total of 153 at the sixth annual tournament here Thursday. Jimmy Hogan, Jasper Park, Alta., John Roswell, Toronto and Sonny Merse, Gotham, Ont., tied for second with 155 each.

Champ Patty

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Patty Berg made another record-garnished entry in her Fairway championship diary Thursday.

The little Minneapolis star, after three years as runner-up in the event, captured the women's United States Western Golf Association Derby for the first time, completing the 72 holes in 308 strokes.

Joe Louis Has Busy Time Ahead

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—An ambitious 1939 program for heavyweight champion Joe Louis was outlined today by Mike Jacobs, his guardian "angel" and head of the 20th Century Sporting Club.

Joe will fight four times next year—in January, April, June and September.

Meet in February

ORANGE, N.J., Aug. 12. — Joe Jacobs, manager of Tony Galento, the National Boxing Association's No. 1 challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight world title, announced last night the "Orange Nightstick" would meet John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, Feb. 22 at Atlantic City.

Next Game: Sunday at 3:00 p.m., at Renfrew Park, Columbus Club vs. Belmonts.

By JACK DEAKIN

FACING almost certain elimination from the playoffs if they lost, the Belmonts played winning baseball at Renfrew Park last night, defeating Arrow Busses by a 3-1 score. Played in one hour, 23 minutes, the game was the fastest this season.

The triumph brought the third place Belmonts a game and a half behind the Arrows, brightening their chances considerably. The Belmonts can edge into the second playoff berth "if" they win their remaining games and can knock the Arrows over once more. The Arrows, too, however, must drop at least a couple more games before the Belmonts can take over the second bracket.

NOT MAN WITH PIPE

Eddie Schalein's five hit pitching and a double base blow by Jack Kelly (not the man with the pipe) in the eighth inning were the major powers in the Belmont triumph.

Schalein bested Bud Foley in the 8½ inning game. Eddie allowed but five hits to Foley's 10, struck out five batters to Foley's four and allowed no bases on balls while Foley gave four passes to the initial sack.

The Belmonts were forced to come from behind as the Arrows took advantage of one of the three Belmont errors in the first inning with Kilburn scoring after hitting safely with a single. Kilburn took second and then third on Jimmy Barker's error and scored as Fred Lupul lifted a long fly ball to centre field.

TIED UP SCORE

Drumming up a three-hit attack in the third frame, Belmonts tied up the score. Pete Turner started the hitting, getting a single but was later tagged out at second base but Goldsworthy was safe on a fielder's choice. Straight single base blows by Phil Horne and Jack Kelly brought Goldsworthy home.

Both moundsmen were steady from the third frame on as Foley gave off two hits as did Schalein from the third until the seventh.

Foley's momentary wildness put Belmonts on the pathways. Foley first walked Turner, who in turn was tagged out at second, letting Goldsworthy get on base on a fielder's choice. A second free passage to Horn at first base made the setting perfect for Kelly. Kelly took a terrific cut at the ball (as Kellys always do, what say, skipper) and pelted the horsehide for two bases and Goldsworthy and Horn sped home with the winning tallies.

Schalein was steady in the eighth. He retired the Arrows in one, two, three order, but ran into trouble in the ninth as Brault hit a single and Horn errored. Brault's failure to touch second base as he ran to third on Horn's error, cost the Arrows their big chance. The ball was played at second and Brault was out for the second out. McGill, pinch-hitting for Bill Lupul, then fanned to end the game.

Football Explained

—By—
Eric "Eck" Duggan

(Following is the fourth of a series of articles on Canadian rugby, football being presented daily in these columns by Eric Duggan, well known official.)

TODAY we find our team on their own 38-yard line. It is third down and two yards to go. It is considered poor judgment unless desperate to speculate on an ordinary scrimmage play in this situation, particularly with the play still in Edmonton territory.

So the signal is called—Kick Formation. The Eaks line up for the play, the ball is snapped back 10 or 12 yards to the player alloted the task and he lifts a long high punt to the Calgary goal-line. His teammates protect him momentarily against the charging Bronks and then follow down the field under the kick to tackle the player catching the ball.

These downfield Eskimo tacklers must allow the Calgary receiver five yards freedom in making his catch otherwise the Edmonton team will be penalized 15 yards.

It may be well to point out at this time in all scrimmage plays including the punt and forward pass, players on the defensive side may use their hands to break through their opponents and tackle the ball carrier. However players on the attacking team are not permitted to use their hands while making interference. Interference is to be made with the body, hands held closely to the side. Should a player of the attacking side be found to be grabbing or holding an opponent his team will be penalized. The penalty in this case is loss of 10 yards and one down.

(Tomorrow—The Forward Pass)

Capture Coveted S. W. Field Trophy

SWIMMERS from the West End Swimming Club captured the S. W. Field Trophy, emblematic of inter-club swimming supremacy, at the South Side pool last night when they managed to edge out a classy contingent from the East End club. The West Enders compiled a total of 98 points, just two better than East End. The South Side club found their small entry too big a handicap and were only able to collect 57 points.

To George Jackson, clever East End club splasher, went the honor of breaking the only provincial record to fall during the evening. He clipped seven seconds off the old mark in the men's 100-yard breast stroke event for a new Alberta mark of one minute 24 1-5 seconds.

Victory seemed assured for the East End club entry in the evening as they piled up point after point to take a commanding lead as the half-way mark in the gala was reached. Then the West End natators started plowing through the water in real earnest to cut down that lead.

It was the last event on the program that decided the meet, the men's relay race. The West End club had to finish both first and second in the event to win. They did, while the East End entry came a close third as they tried desperately to hold off the West End squad.

John William Baxter Cooper, resident of Edmonton for many years, died in Edmonton Thursday, at the age of 74 years. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. W. Granfield, Couble Hill, Vancouver Island; Kathleen of Edmonton, and four sons, Charles of Edmonton; Richard of Edmonton, Harry of Edmonton and John Mark of Edmonton; also fifteen grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at St. Faith's church, New Lane. F. A. Clough will officiate. Interment will take place in the Beechmount cemetery. Connelly-McKinley, Limited, funeral directors, are in charge of arrangements.

Three-Wheel Car Can Do 75 M.P.H. Driver Declares

Henry Ebbers had a tough time explaining to the motor license department officials when he applied for a license for his three-wheeled, two-seater vehicle was really an auto, he disclosed Thursday. The vehicle is powered by a twin motorcycle engine with a chain drive and is reported to be capable of a speed of 75 miles an hour. Its builder, Frank Ebbers, machinist, has driven it at 65 miles an hour.

The machine has two front wheels and one at the rear. It steers by the front wheels. This type of car was very popular during the war, being manufactured by the Morris-Cowley people.

EARLY START ON BIG PROJECT TO INCREASE DUCKS

Early start by Ducks Unlimited on a major project in this province, by which the water supply will be increased in known duck breeding areas, is expected following a conference on Thursday between W. H. Wallace, provincial fish and game commissioner and T. C. Main, Winnipeg, general manager of Ducks Unlimited.

Raising of water levels and the fencing off of areas are under consideration, it was learned.

This work would provide for better nesting places for the ducks and consequently more ducks with greater safety.

Five areas are under special consideration, namely Many Island Lake, north of Medicine Hat; Miniatik Lake, south-east of this city; Low Water Lake, at one time drained; Grizzly Bear Lake, north of Vermilion and the Cooking Lake Forest Reserve.

The provincial government is co-operating to the limit with Ducks Unlimited in this project and early selection of a site, with action to develop same, is expected.

Cabinet Men To Attend Service Picnic Saturday

Provincial cabinet ministers will be the guests of honor at the annual picnic of Branch 2, Civil Service Association, Saturday afternoon on the lawns below the Parliament buildings.

Postponed from last week-end, the affair will get underway at 2 p.m. with a complete sports program, featuring novel races for the older and youngest members of the association. Prizes donated by local business firms will be awarded the winners.

At supertime an up-to-date floor show will be presented, to be followed by a period of jitney dancing on a specially constructed platform, when an orchestra will be in attendance.

Carl Gunderson is chairman of the picnic committee, and is assisted by G. E. Blais, secretary. Other chairmen are: Miss Winnie Meakin, refreshments; C. A. Bowerman, George Ward, Ken Cundal, Horace Clark, sports; John S. Hall, prizes; Ernie Stowe, grounds; F. J. Fitzpatrick, dancing.
